ROOSEVELT PROPOSES RETURN OF AIR MAIL SERVICE TO COMMERCIAL COMPANIES UNDER NEW LEGISLATION

PARTRIDGE, ARNOLD ARE RUNNERS-UP IN TWO BRACKETS

E. F. Johnson, Ex-County Chairman, Gets 5,567 Ballots in 58 Precincts, Followed by Partridge, Jones and Benteen.

ONLY 11,640 CITIZENS VOTE IN CONTESTS

Arnold, Stewart, Smith, McCalley, Ray, Venable, Rusk Trail in Order in Nine-Man Competition.

Edwin F. Johnson, former chairman of the Fulton county commission, was victor over a four-man field, and Dr. Adams and Almand won in the other race, a nine-cornered affair.

Of the 33,450 persons entitled to cast ballots only 11,640 visited the polls, according to unofficial returns from 58 of the 59 precincts compiled by the Constitution.

Double Branch, in which about 78 votes were said to have been cast, was the precinct not reporting.

Johnson, winner of the nomination in the four-cornered contest for the unincorporated post on the commission, mustered 5,567 votes in the 58 precincts, outdistancing his nearest opponent, Thomas Croom Partridge, by a vote of more than two-to-one.

Partridge had 2,432 votes in the reporting precincts. William A. Jones, who was third, with 1,950 votes, and Colonel F. W. Benteen trailed with 1,675.

Almand leads Big Field. Almand led the entire field of nine candidates for the two nominations from the county-at-large positions. He had 6,449 votes and Dr. Adams was given 4,545 ballots. Others polled as follows:

Quincy O. Arnold, Hapeville mayor, 2,751; Walter B. Stewart, former commissioner, 1,835; W. Ches Smith, 1,780; William A. Jones, 1,950; J. R. 1,644; Joe W. Ray, 1,467; Oscar Venable, 1,420; H. Parks Rusk, 1,242.

Johnson lost only half a dozen of the 58 boxes, and two of those, "B" and "Pole's," he surrendered by a margin of only one vote. The others taken by the opposition were the first ward, Center Hill; "A" and Peachtree "B."

Almand lost the following precincts: "B," "C," "D," "E," "F," "G," "H," "I," "J," "K," "L," "M," "N," "O," "P," "Q," "R," "S," "T," "U," "V," "W," "X," "Y," "Z," "AA," "AB," "AC," "AD," "AE," "AF," "AG," "AH," "AI," "AJ," "AK," "AL," "AM," "AN," "AO," "AP," "AQ," "AR," "AS," "AT," "AU," "AV," "AW," "AX," "AY," "AZ," "BA," "BB," "BC," "BD," "BE," "BF," "BG," "BH," "BI," "BJ," "BK," "BL," "BM," "BN," "BO," "BP," "BQ," "BR," "BS," "BT," "BU," "BV," "BW," "BX," "BY," "BZ," "CA," "CB," "CC," "CD," "CE," "CF," "CG," "CH," "CI," "CJ," "CK," "CL," "CM," "CN," "CO," "CP," "CQ," "CR," "CS," "CT," "CU," "CV," "CW," "CX," "CY," "CZ," "DA," "DB," "DC," "DD," "DE," "DF," "DG," "DH," "DI," "DJ," "DK," "DL," "DM," "DN," "DO," "DP," "DQ," "DR," "DS," "DT," "DU," "DV," "DW," "DX," "DY," "DZ," "EA," "EB," "EC," "ED," "EE," "EF," "EG," "EH," "EI," "EJ," "EK," "EL," "EM," "EN," "EO," "EP," "EQ," "ER," "ES," "ET," "EU," "EV," "EW," "EX," "EY," "EZ," "FA," "FB," "FC," "FD," "FE," "FF," "FG," "FH," "FI," "FJ," "FK," "FL," "FM," "FN," "FO," "FP," "FQ," "FR," "FS," "FT," "FU," "FV," "FW," "FX," "FY," "FZ," "GA," "GB," "GC," "GD," "GE," "GF," "GG," "GH," "GI," "GJ," "GK," "GL," "GM," "GN," "GO," "GP," "GQ," "GR," "GS," "GT," "GU," "GV," "GW," "GX," "GY," "GZ," "HA," "HB," "HC," "HD," "HE," "HF," "HG," "HH," "HI," "HJ," "HK," "HL," "HM," "HN," "HO," "HP," "HQ," "HR," "HS," "HT," "HU," "HV," "HW," "HX," "HY," "HZ," "IA," "IB," "IC," "ID," "IE," "IF," "IG," "IH," "II," "IJ," "IK," "IL," "IM," "IN," "IO," "IP," "IQ," "IR," "IS," "IT," "IU," "IV," "IW," "IX," "IY," "IZ," "JA," "JB," "JC," "JD," "JE," "JF," "JG," "JH," "JI," "JJ," "JK," "JL," "JM," "JN," "JO," "JP," "JQ," "JR," "JS," "JT," "JU," "JV," "JW," "JX," "JY," "JZ," "KA," "KB," "KC," "KD," "KE," "KF," "KG," "KH," "KI," "KJ," "KL," "KM," "KN," "KO," "KP," "KQ," "KR," "KS," "KT," "KU," "KV," "KW," "KX," "KY," "KZ," "LA," "LB," "LC," "LD," "LE," "LF," "LG," "LH," "LI," "LJ," "LK," "LL," "LM," "LN," "LO," "LP," "LQ," "LR," "LS," "LT," "LU," "LV," "LW," "LX," "LY," "LZ," "MA," "MB," "MC," "MD," "ME," "MF," "MG," "MH," "MI," "MJ," "MK," "ML," "MM," "MN," "MO," "MP," "MQ," "MR," "MS," "MT," "MU," "MV," "MW," "MX," "MY," "MZ," "NA," "NB," "NC," "ND," "NE," "NF," "NG," "NH," "NI," "NJ," "NK," "NL," "NM," "NN," "NO," "NP," "NQ," "NR," "NS," "NT," "NU," "NV," "NW," "NX," "NY," "NZ," "OA," "OB," "OC," "OD," "OE," "OF," "OG," "OH," "OI," "OJ," "OK," "OL," "OM," "ON," "OO," "OP," "OQ," "OR," "OS," "OT," "OU," "OV," "OW," "OX," "OY," "OZ," "PA," "PB," "PC," "PD," "PE," "PF," "PG," "PH," "PI," "PJ," "PK," "PL," "PM," "PN," "PO," "PP," "PQ," "PR," "PS," "PT," "PU," "PV," "PW," "PX," "PY," "PZ," "QA," "QB," "QC," "QD," "QE," "QF," "QG," "QH," "QI," "QJ," "QK," "QL," "QM," "QN," "QO," "QP," "QQ," "QR," "QS," "QT," "QU," "QV," "QW," "QX," "QY," "QZ," "RA," "RB," "RC," "RD," "RE," "RF," "RG," "RH," "RI," "RJ," "RK," "RL," "RM," "RN," "RO," "RP," "RQ," "RR," "RS," "RT," "RU," "RV," "RW," "RX," "RY," "RZ," "SA," "SB," "SC," "SD," "SE," "SF," "SG," "SH," "SI," "SJ," "SK," "SL," "SM," "SN," "SO," "SP," "SQ," "SR," "SS," "ST," "SU," "SV," "SW," "SX," "SY," "SZ," "TA," "TB," "TC," "TD," "TE," "TF," "TG," "TH," "TI," "TJ," "TK," "TL," "TM," "TN," "TO," "TP," "TQ," "TR," "TS," "TT," "TU," "TV," "TW," "TX," "TY," "TZ," "UA," "UB," "UC," "UD," "UE," "UF," "UG," "UH," "UI," "UJ," "UK," "UL," "UM," "UN," "UO," "UP," "UQ," "UR," "US," "UT," "UU," "UV," "UW," "UX," "UY," "UZ," "VA," "VB," "VC," "VD," "VE," "VF," "VG," "VH," "VI," "VJ," "VK," "VL," "VM," "VN," "VO," "VP," "VQ," "VR," "VS," "VT," "VU," "VV," "VW," "VX," "VY," "VZ," "WA," "WB," "WC," "WD," "WE," "WF," "WG," "WH," "WI," "WJ," "WK," "WL," "WM," "WN," "WO," "WP," "WQ," "WR," "WS," "WT," "WU," "WV," "WW," "WX," "WY," "WZ," "XA," "XB," "XC," "XD," "XE," "XF," "XG," "XH," "XI," "XJ," "XK," "XL," "XM," "XN," "XO," "XP," "XQ," "XR," "XS," "XT," "XU," "XV," "XW," "XX," "XY," "XZ," "YA," "YB," "YC," "YD," "YE," "YF," "YG," "YH," "YI," "YJ," "YK," "YL," "YM," "YN," "YO," "YP," "YQ," "YR," "YS," "YT," "YU," "YV," "YW," "YX," "YZ," "ZA," "ZB," "ZC," "ZD," "ZE," "ZF," "ZG," "ZH," "ZI," "ZJ," "ZK," "ZL," "ZM," "ZN," "ZO," "ZP," "ZQ," "ZR," "ZS," "ZT," "ZU," "ZV," "ZW," "ZX," "ZY," "ZZ."

Johnson May Invoke NRA Penal Provisions

Recovery Chief Warns Non-Compliers of Drastic Action Planned to Obtain Co-operation in Code Enforcement.

By SAM B. BLEDSOE. WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—A ringing plea for industry to reduce hours and raise wages was coupled to-night by Hugh S. Johnson with a stern threat to invoke the penal provisions of the recovery act to bring recalcitrant industrial units into compliance. "Of course we can't succeed without public support of what we are trying to do, and I want to warn non-compliers that we are not only going out to revive public sentiment for the Blue Eagle but under specific orders from the president, we are reorganizing to enforce the penal sections of the act," he said. "Regardless of publicity, I have been too gentle. We deliberately played because of misunderstandings—but if I may lapse into the vernacular—you ain't seen nothing yet."

Addressing the nation's employers, and summing up two weeks of intensive effort, the NRA administrator said, however, that further discussion would be held to go over the wage and hour situation before action on this and other matters. He called meetings of select groups for that purpose.

He expressed disappointment over the conference in that "American industry has nothing to offer except objection" and asserted "we've got to enforce the rights guaranteed by this act."

He said there was no law prohibiting a company union "if the men freely choose it." Adding: "But 99 times out of 100 you and I know that this is not the case."

In one pithy paragraph the administrator summed up his views on the troubled question of wages and hours: "There are some industries that couldn't do what I tentatively suggested about wages and hours. There are some where business is so little that, if they did adopt the rule, it would be to their disadvantage."

MENDIETA TURNS TO ABC TO THWART LEFTIST THREAT

Attempt on Life of Cuban Secretary of State Increases Political Tension in Havana.

By EDMUND A. CHESTER. HAVANA, March 7.—(AP)—Driven to new precautionary measures against increasing pressure from Cuban radicals, President Carlos Mendieta to-night turned a speculative eye upon the A B C Society as a possible bulwark against the leftists.

Alert to rumors of a new revolution and the increasing menace of a general strike, Mendieta conferred with Colonel Fulgencio Batista, head of the army, regarding a plan to place the brunt of the burden upon tens of thousands of lusty youngsters who represent some of the island's soundest conservative element.

An attempt upon the life of Secretary of State Cossio de la Torriente today increased the tension which even the most conservative observers called extremely precarious.

While machine guns bristled about the presidential palace, unidentified persons armed with a submachine gun fired upon Torriente as he was leaving his downtown office. "This is the work of communists," he declared.

Batista was reported to have frowned upon a proposal to create an A B C militia, and the plan is temporarily in abeyance. It was learned from a credible source that Mendieta was agreeable to reorganizing the cabinet to include A B C elements, and several announced changes supported the probability.

The president's secretaries announced that Jorge Manach would resign, and that Magistrate Francisco Llica Argudin, of the audience courts, had been appointed secretary of the interior.

Argudin is not affiliated politically. The interior post has been retained by Dr. Felix Granados, who was also secretary of war and the navy. He will retain the latter post.

Colonel Batista tonight resumed extraordinary precautions, ordering army men to search automobiles and keep a card record of the drivers. The precautions have been somewhat lessened.

The strike situation, meanwhile, remains in the state of a stalemate. The president's secretaries announced that the strike situation remains in the state of a stalemate.

FORD BACKS BORAH IN STAND ON NAVY

Motor Magnate Supports Idahoan in Opposition to Building Program.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.) FORT MYERS, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Charging that a small group of men were responsible for war through the manufacture of munitions and by fostering international distrust, Henry Ford backs Senator Borah in his opposition to the half-billion-dollar navy program and other army and navy construction.

The people in general don't want war," said Mr. Ford, "but it has been forced on them by scheming munition makers looking for enormous profits through the sale of arms."

"A man who buys a knife, acquires it for the purpose of attack, not for the purpose of defense," he said. "If we could get rid of the approximately 100 men responsible for wars in this world, the people would enjoy peace."

"But as long as greed for profits accentuates the makers of munitions, and as long as countries maintain armaments, just so long will we be in danger of being pushed into another war. It could have been avoided."

"A man who buys a knife, acquires it for the purpose of attack, not for the purpose of defense," he said. "If we could get rid of the approximately 100 men responsible for wars in this world, the people would enjoy peace."

If he marries her, she will be the 13th wife he has had. His last wife divorced Zaro following his celebrated journey to the United States in 1930.

HIKE IN 2 BOARDS VETOED BY MAYOR

Key Demands Council Cut; Steiner Corporation Paper Disapproved.

Mayor James L. Key Wednesday demanded a reduction in the personnel of council as he vetoed an ordinance designed to increase the membership of the police and fire commissions to 13 members each, and at the same time disapproved a proposal to set up a private corporation to operate the Albert Steiner Cancer clinic.

In disapproving the ordinance to hike the number of members of the two commissions controlling the public safety departments of the municipality, the mayor pointed out that any such move was in the wrong direction. He cited the fact that Atlanta had voted overwhelmingly to reduce council, and added that if any change is made it should be to cut rather than increase personnel.

His veto of the Steiner proposal was predicated on its illegality and also on the fact that he believed the municipality should not enter the practice of medicine or the conduct of hospitals in competition to private physicians and hospitals.

F. R. R. WILL SEEK MAYADJOURNMENT

President To Order Solons To Speed Major Legislative Work.

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON. WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—An early order from President Roosevelt for concentration on vital recovery legislation with a view to bringing about an adjournment of congress by the May 15 dead line has in mind was foreseen today.

The president has asked for and expects the enactment of a stock exchange control bill and the establishment of the proposed communications commission, but it is becoming more and more apparent the administration is going to focus main efforts on the St. Lawrence waterway treaty soon will have to take their chances as primary attention is focused upon the necessary appropriation and tax bills and the president's tariff bargaining proposal.

War Debts Message Soon. War debts message will go forward to Capitol Hill before long but this is expected to be more in the nature of a report than a request for legislative action.

It is apparent that the president is intent upon fulfilling a recovery program mapped out last summer and in going to focus main efforts on the government upon this.

For this reason some advisers believe he will not be so much concerned about new propositions pending before congress so long as full opportunity is allowed for advancement of the domestic recovery efforts.

In this connection an extension of the licensing power under the national recovery act is expected to be asked by the administration. This power expires in June.

F. D. R. Quiet on Plans. Mr. Roosevelt himself is saying nothing about his future plans with congress except that he has completed the presentation of his legislative program. He is watching events on Capitol Hill very closely and there are signs he is seeking an adjustment of the veterans economy plan which was wrecked in the senate by votes for increased benefits over the

CONTRACT LETTING WOULD BE PLACED ON 3-YEAR BASIS

Competitive Bidding Also Proposed With I. C. C. Passing on Necessity of Routes and Fixing Maximum Payments.

ACTION ON MEASURE SCHEDULED TODAY

Air Firm Official Reveals Payments for Mail Carried Not Made Since January 1.

(Text of Message in Page 3.) By MELBOURNE CHRISTENSEN. WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today proposed return of the air mail to commercial companies as soon as possible under new legislation providing for "honest payment for honest service."

He suggested new contracts be let for a period not exceeding three years under competitive bidding. The interstate commerce commission would pass on the question of public convenience and necessity of air mail routes and fix minimum payments.

In a letter to Chairman McKeeler and Meade of the senate and house postoffice committees and Chairman Black of the senate investigating committee, Mr. Roosevelt said: "Enactment of legislation along the lines I have suggested will establish a sound, stable and permanent air mail policy."

"Obviously," he added, "no new contract should be made with any company, old or new, any of whose officers were party to the obtaining of former contracts under circumstances which were clearly contrary to good faith and public policy."

The president's letter was made public at the close of a day which saw Colonel Paul Henderson, vice president of the United Aircraft and Transportation Company, testify before Black's committee that his company had not received payments for mail carried since January 1, until the time its contract was ordered annulled along with others on February 9.

Inquiry at the postoffice department disclosed payments to all companies had been held up and would not be made until the pay question had been cleared up by the postmaster-general Farley and Attorney-General Cummings.

The justice department, is understood to have studied with any company before Black's committee to see whether there was a basis for prosecution in connection with charges of fraud and collusion upon which the old contracts were canceled.

Bill To Be Introduced. McKellar said an air mail bill now in preparation, carrying out the recommendations of the president, probably would be introduced tomorrow or Friday.

Members of the committee have agreed on the substance of the bill, he added, but not on some of the details.

"I am very much in sympathy with the president's recommendations along down the line," McKellar said. "We must avoid," Mr. Roosevelt said in his letter, "the evils of the past, and at the same time encourage the sound development of the aviation industry."

CONFESSION CLAIMED IN ATTACK ON FARMER

Victim in Lamar County
Fight Reported in Critical Condition.

BARNESVILLE, Ga., March 7.—A confession that he knocked Julius Poe, Lamar county farmer, in the head with a large rock and crushed his skull, was obtained from Lipe Jackson, former CWA worker here last night, according to a statement from Sheriff Z. T. Elliott. Poe was discovered crawling toward a neighbor's home yesterday, with the back of his head mashed in, but was not able to give an account of the affair. He was carried by local physicians to the Griffin hospital, where he is in a critical condition. An operation was performed last night in an effort to save his life.

Jackson stated that he and Poe had had a misunderstanding over the alleged theft of some meat from Poe's house. Later Jackson returned to Poe's house and found him in an adjoining field, where he made the attack. Jackson was said to have been drunk at the time. He was lodged in the Lamar county jail, and as superior court is in session, will probably be indicted by the grand jury and tried immediately.

DEPUTY IDENTIFIES NEGRO AS SLAYER

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 7.—(AP)—Identified by a Rome (Ga.) deputy sheriff as wanted in the southern city for a murder committed in 1916, Stephen Epps, 33, negro, today was being held pending the arrival of another witness to corroborate the identification.

Epps was identified yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Mark E. Hoyt, grand supreme court extradition hearing at the alleged killer of a timekeeper in a plow factory. Epps, arrested here three weeks ago, denied being in Georgia at the time of the killing, saying he had resided in Buffalo since 1916.

Georgia Lands Rented to U. S. Made Into Permanent Pastures

ATHENS, Ga., March 7.—(AP)—County farm agents have advised the agricultural extension service that many Georgia farmers established permanent pastures during February on land rented to the secretary of agriculture through farm adjustment programs.

A realization that permanent pastures are needed and that they will pay their way has come to Georgia farmers, the extension service states. E. D. Alexander, extension agronomist, says the present month is still time for seeding of carpet and dallis grass and lespedeza to permanent pastures.

He said that on lands being cleared for the first time, the move towards an improved farming plan should be accompanied by removal of enough timber to prevent excess shading and water competition. Undergrowth should be destroyed and the soil cleaned of litter so the seed may come into direct contact with moist soil, germinating quickly.

Plowing or discing is necessary only April, 1918. Four other negroes corroborated Epps' story.

After hearing the conflicting testimony, Justice James E. Norton adjourned the case for two weeks to allow Georgia authorities to bring another witness to Buffalo. Hoyt said he frequently visited the factory where the slaying was committed and testified he saw Epps in the plant the day before the crime.

STARCHY MEALS BLOAT YOU?

Use Placidan, the new 2-way Antacid, when you begin feeling uneasy

Few people have stomachs so strong that they don't need help to take care of the unbalanced meals (too much bread, potatoes, macaroni, etc.) that they eat. Many times you feel sick after eating, sour substances rise in your throat, your stomach feels "lumpy" and hot, you belch bad-tasting gas, your starchy meals are creating excessive acidity. Take a swallow of Placidan immediately. Soon your stomach can be calm, sweet. All drug stores carry Placidan. It contains four antacids. One reduces excess acids, others keep the stomach sweet many hours. And Placidan is very pleasant to take.

2 GIRLS RESCUED FROM ATTACKER

65-Year-Old Philadelphian Is Wounded Seriously by Police.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(AP)—A 65-year-old man, holding off police while he kept two 15-year-old girls prisoners in a house, was critically wounded today, one of the girls was shot and three policemen and firemen were overcome by tear gas in an hour-long battle to subdue the man.

A bystander, whose name was not immediately available, also was struck by a bullet in the battle which began when the man was seen to take the girls, Stasia Haraburda and Hedwig Glinka, into the house.

Barely able to speak after their ordeal, both girls said they had been attacked before police rescued them from the place. They said the man, Walter Bevin, lured them into the house by promising to pay them for housecleaning work. The Glinka girl was the one wounded.

Bevin stood off scores of detectives and police by barricading himself in the house in northwest Philadelphia, and fired at the officers with a .38-caliber pistol.

When police came to the house they commanded Bevin to come downstairs from the second floor, and he started shooting at them from a second-story window.

Calls for assistance brought police from several sections of the city, as passers-by, hearing the shots, ran for cover.

Detectives rushed into the lower floor of the house and hurled tear-gas bombs up the stairway. Bevin, peering from his bedroom door, fired several shots at them. One policeman is believed to have been wounded.

"Come down here," a detective commanded.

"No, you'll kill me," the man shouted, continuing to fire at the officers.

"Are those girls all right?" the detective asked.

"Yes, they're all right. They're in heaven!" Bevin was alleged to have said.

Meantime, other policemen started across the roofs of near-by houses in an attempt to gain entrance to Bevin's barricade, and about 20 policemen remained opposite the house.

As the gas began to take effect in the place, Bevin staggered to a doorway and again shot at the officers. The police then opened fire at him and he fell.

Despite Mr. Roosevelt's budget message statement that six billion dollars of new money would be "borrowed" for recovery costs, the small size of the March issue started new rumors of issue non-interest bearing circulating notes to retire the bonds.

He has authority to do so up to three billion dollars and is known to believe such an action would not be inflationary. A sinking fund would have to be set up for the gradual retirement of the notes.

The new note issue will be dated March 15 and mature March 15, 1938. It will be exempt from all taxation.

Applications will be received at the treasury, federal reserve banks and branches.

Text of Roosevelt Message On Contracts for Air Mail

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's letter on air mail contracts follows:

My Dear Mr. Chairman: Our domestic air mail contracts have been canceled. The army air corps is temporarily carrying the air mail. I believe we should make new contracts with commercial air carriers as soon as possible to carry the greater part of our air mail. To protect the public interest and to provide for new contracts on a basis of honest payment for honest service, I suggest new legislation on this subject.

We must avoid the evils of the past, and at the same time encourage the sound development of the aviation industry.

I suggest that new air mail contracts be let for a period not exceeding three years on full, open and fair competitive bidding, with a limitation of the rate of compensation above which no contract will be awarded.

Any combinations, agreements or understandings intended to prevent free competitive bidding should be prevented and such action should be a basis for cancellation of contracts.

In order that the bidding shall be really competitive, I suggest that in determining the specifications for proper equipment, only speed, useful load capacity, safety factors and safety devices should be considered.

So that all companies desiring to qualify and bid may have an opportunity fully to prepare themselves for actual service I suggest that after the contract is awarded a period of not longer than six months shall be allowed the successful bidder to qualify under the terms of the law and the bid.

It is my judgment that six months before expiration of the contracts made under competitive bidding, the interstate commerce commission should pass upon the question of public convenience and necessity of air mail routes, and thereafter fix a maximum rate of air mail pay on the routes designated, subject, of course, to equipment specifications to be laid down.

I suggest that the proposed law prohibit the award of an air mail contract to any company having connections with subsidiaries, affiliates, associates or holding companies, directly or indirectly, by that American Airways can carry the air mail as cheaply as anyone, and I feel sure that as soon as the way is open for bids our company will enter offers for carrying the air mail on all routes formerly operated by us.

"American Airways has not cut schedules or dismissed a single employee since the air-mail contracts were canceled, but instead the air-mail routes are being flown regularly just as if the air mail were actively carried. In this way, American Airways will be prepared to pick up where it left off when and if it gets the new contracts."

H. A. Elliott, vice president of Eastern Air Transport, was out of the city last night, and other local representatives of E. A. T. did not comment on the matter. However, E. A. T. has a large investment at Candler field and at other points on its routes, and it is confidently expected that the company will enter the field for the new contracts, E. A. T. having been one of the pioneers in commercial aviation in the southeast half of the country. E. A. T. is still carrying on extensive air activities, although its personnel has been diminished through the loss of air-mail contracts.

10 PER CENT CUT IN HOURS IS URGED

wouldn't make any difference to employment. But there are many that obviously can—and ought to—meet the suggestion to work on a 10 per cent decrease in hours per week and a 10 per cent increase in hourly wages. The president expressly said that he favored resiliency in any such rule. We all know that some industries cannot do this. We know that in some it would be ineffective. But we know that in many there is no excuse for not doing it."

Earlier Johnson had told the industrialists that the president did not intend to proclaim any blanket reduction of hours or increase in wages, but he indicated that he did in his speech tonight—that the subject would be seriously considered at other meetings with selected representatives of the businessmen.

Johnson said only one thing was "out and dried" in advance of the meeting and that he was "prepared to defend that conclusion on purely professional grounds to the discomfiture of any opponent—that, in this emergency and until pay rolls catch up with employment—it is proper to encourage increased wages and reduced hours per week."

As the conference drew near its close, Johnson brought a sigh of relief from the assembled businessmen by telling them neither President Roosevelt nor himself had any thought of putting industry in a "procrustean bed" by an administrative order that hours shall be so and so.

But Johnson in his reassurance that no blanket rule on wages and hours was to be applied immediately, wiped away some of the smiles by indicating he strongly favored the 10 per cent reduction and believed it could best be done through a presidential order.

At the same time, it was learned the president expects to keep the legal cudgel, which permits the licensing of industry, close at hand for use if necessary.

This provision of the national industrial recovery act automatically expires in June and Mr. Roosevelt plans to ask congress for its continuation.

Johnson said his plan was not "clearly formulated" in his mind, although there was nothing to indicate his tentative proposal for the 10 per cent slash made a couple of nights ago had been abandoned.

Mayor Key To Act as Own Attorney In Defending Action on School Pay

Mayor James L. Key will be his own attorney and will defend his action in refusing to sign pay rolls for payment of school employees when the matter is finally reached by the courts for adjudication, it was indicated Wednesday.

Key disagrees with an opinion of City Attorney James L. Mayson that the board of education can operate on the 1933 budget without adoption of a new sheet, which would set up salaries of employees for a full 12-month school year.

The matter probably will reach the courts on a mandamus action which will be sought by the Atlanta board of education after it adopts a 1934 budget, in which it is contemplated that the board will budget against a $390,000 fund, carried in the 1934 finance sheet of council which was passed over Key's veto.

The mayor has announced he will not approve pay rolls based on any finance sheet which attempts to budget against that sum. If the board fails to override him, and then declines to offer another budget, it would under the automatic operation of the law operate on the 1933 budget, it is said.

Key, however, cites provisions of the city charter which makes it mandatory that a budget be adopted and that such a fiscal sheet provide salaries for all employees for the year.

It was learned Wednesday that Key will not ask Mayson to defend him in the event he is attacked in the courts, but will take up the cudgel in his own behalf.

Why Liquid Laxatives are Back in Favor

The public is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that the right dose of a properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. A child is easily given the right dose. And mild liquid laxatives do not irritate the kidneys.

Doctors are generally agreed that senna is a natural laxative. It does not drain the system like the cathartics that leave you so thirsty. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid laxative which relies on senna for its laxative action. It gently helps the average person's bowels back to regularity.

You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store, ready for use. Member N. R. A.

Georgia Fields And Streams

By H. A. Carter

After the slight elongation first appears in the frog eggs, there is a period of quiescence during which the animals do nothing but grow. The leopard frogs that I have under observation now are doing very quietly on the outside of their gelatinous egg envelopes, calmly making way with their only food, content to sit and grow. The cricket frogs are a bit more ambitious and flexible. The hatching tadpole is never straight and stiff in the cricket frog but is shaped like a small crescent. It twitches convulsively occasionally, touching the points of the crescent to each other to form a circle.

Twenty-four hours from now I will look at the tanks again, and see the jet black tadpoles of the leopard frog, now almost an eighth of an inch long, clinging to the glass sides with their delicate suckers. They will be dotting the glass thickly, for there are about a thousand eggs in each two-and-a-half-gallon tank. The cricket frogs will be swimming violently for such tremendous distances as two or three inches, sinking proudly to the sand, filled with the thrill of achievement. Their journeys become longer and longer, until they are actually nibbling at algal growths in the aquarium.

From now on it is simply a matter of growth. Eat and grow fast seems to be the order of the day. After due time the legs appear, first the hind legs, and then the fore legs. Whether the right or left front leg appears first is determined by the position of the water spicule, which is on the left in some species and on the right in others. The bones of the head begin to form as the tail grows smaller. It does not drop off, as I was told long ago, but enters into the body. With the disappearance of the tail, the loss of the internal gills, and widespread modifications of the mouth and head regions, the tadpole emerges as a frogling of diminutive size but great exuberance, and now leaves the water to act as a grown frog should. When I read over what I have written I find that it is likely to be totally without meaning, unless you also have some frog eggs to watch. If you will take a goldfish bowl and go down to a rain pool or a small pond, you can find all the frog eggs you need. Take a few in the bowl, and watch them for a while. I'll guarantee their fascination.

Banks May Pledge Assets for Deposits

Dave Parker, assistant attorney-general, attached to the state banking department, ruled Wednesday that banks in Georgia have legal authority to pledge their assets to secure deposits of public funds.

The question was raised by a number of national banks whose interest was aroused by a recent decision of the United States supreme court that national banks might so pledge their assets in states where state banks were allowed to do so. Officials at the capitol said many Georgia banks had acted on the assumption that they had that authority, without specific authorization from any official source and in the face of conflicting court decisions in other states.

For many years the law regarding state depositories, where the state's own money is kept, has required them to make bond or post government or state bonds to cover deposits of the state government.

Parker said, however, that up to 1933 there had been no specific law in the state with reference to security for deposits of counties, municipalities and other government agencies. He interpreted a clause in the 1933 banking act as conferring the specific authority to pledge assets for that purpose.

$1,000,000 Relief Fund Given Georgia by U. S.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief and civil works administrator, Wednesday granted to Georgia $1,000,000 as the allocation for March to assist in caring for unemployed and destitute persons, it was announced.

The sum represents a reduction from previous monthly allocations for relief, independent of the CWA, but is the same as the allocation for February, it was said at the offices of Miss Gay R. Shepperson, Georgia civil works administrator.

Of the sum, $124,000 is for the relief of federal transients, or persons who have come into Georgia from other states, and $222,000 is for part-time jobs for college students in order to permit 1,000 students to finish school and not flood the labor market, it was said.

$8,113,479 IS SPENT
BY GOODRICH IN SOUTH

Approximately $8,113,479 was spent by the R. F. Goodrich Company, rubber manufacturers, and associated companies in the southern states during 1933 for the purchase of raw and manufactured materials from various industries and producers, it is announced by A. D. Moss, director of purchases.

This amount is an increase of 47 per cent over the total spent by Goodrich in the southern states for the same purpose in 1932. It does not include total expenditures by Goodrich in the southern states last year, as pay rolls, taxes and other items are not listed in the tabulations, including purchases made by local representatives and not cleared through the principal offices.

Principal factories and offices of Goodrich are in Akron, Ohio. The company operates a large fabric mill, Martha Mills, at Thomaston, Ga., and a Pacific coast factory at Los Angeles, Cal.

Members of the Fulton county democratic executive committee, under which the contests are conducted, decided that a plurality of the votes cast is all that is necessary to obtain the nominations.

'Quake Recorded.
SEATTLE, March 7.—(AP)—W. M. Chapell, seismologist of the University of Washington, said today a severe earthquake began about 3 p. m. (Pacific standard time) centering 2,000 miles south, probably in Mexico. It was strong enough to do considerable damage in a well-populated center, he said.

CRASHES, CRIME
BLAMED ON BEER*W. C. T. U. Group Asks
Key, Council To Outlaw
Sale of Beverage.

Revocation of Atlanta beer licenses as a means of lessening automobile accidents and crime in general was demanded of Mayor Key and council Wednesday in an open letter by the fifth district W. C. T. U.

The request that the mayor and council aid in keeping drunken drivers from the streets and highways was in line with the safety campaign of the Atlanta Motor Club, which is endeavoring to reduce accidents in the city by strict observance of traffic regulations and laws.

The temperance union blamed liquor for many of the accidents which have resulted fatally and indonesed council in its move to put teeth in the law against drunken driving. The open letter was adopted Tuesday at a meeting of the fifth district chapter in Buckhead.

"Disrespect for Law."
"The attitude of the mayor and council in permitting the sale of beer under license although it is against the state law tends to create a feeling of disrespect for the law, both by citizens and by police who are sworn to enforce it," the letter asserted.

To revoke the beer license ordinance would be to take the first step in clearing up an intolerable condition in fatal automobile accidents and in general crime, the women asserted.

Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, Georgia temperance leader, asserted that "the liquor traffic is doomed. The repeal of the eighteenth amendment did not solve the problem but tremendously complicated it. Whiskey is inherently evil and diabolical and it must be destroyed." She was the principal speaker at the session Mrs. Robert H. McDougall, fifth district president, presided.

Barred From Driving.
Further developments in the traffic situation Wednesday included treatment of several persons at hospitals for injury in accidents and the suspension of five persons' right to drive by Judge Jesse Wood.

Judge Wood said, in referring to CWA workers on trial for drunken driving: "The government gives jobs to people to provide food and living for families. It is not the idea of the government for federal workers to buy whiskey, get drunk, and drive on the streets endangering the lives of many others."

Heretofore for first offenders Judge Wood assessed fines of $25 but Wednesday he doubled the fine for many. Those sentenced on conviction of driving while drunk were: Hoyt Blackstone, CWA worker, $50 fine, no driving for 18 months; Harrison Bankston, Rush Baker and Prince Wyche, $50 fines each and banned from driving for 12 months; and W. R. Hipp, $35 fine and six months' suspension.

Woman Found Guilty.
Mrs. J. P. Roberts, of 209 Third street, was found guilty by jury trial of driving while drunk and having an accident but sentence was deferred until this morning. Two women were hurt in another car which was struck by one driven by Mrs. Roberts on December 28.

Two hit-and-run drivers figured in reports of accidents to city police Wednesday.

Donald Gray, 4-year-old son of Mrs. E. D. Gray, of Marietta road was slightly injured near his home when struck by a woman driver who failed to stop, and Benjamin Bradley, 16-year-old negro boy, of 208 Haynes street, was admitted to Grady hospital as the result of injuries he received when struck by an automobile at Hunter, near Ashby street, Wednesday. The driver did not stop.

Carl Stacy, of 6 West Third street, was admitted to Grady hospital in serious condition Wednesday night, following a collision between a car driven by J. B. Brown, of Nelson, Ga., and J. T. Hancock Jr., of 57 Eighth street, N. E., at Kirkwood drive and Third street, N. W.

Stacy, in the car with Brown, received a multiple fracture of both legs and Marshall Kimbrough, of 353 Nelms street, N. E., was cut about the head. After treatment, the latter was dismissed and cases were booked against both drivers.

Girl Cut and Bruised.
Six-year-old Polly Rityak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Rityak, of 1178 Rock Spring road, was cut and bruised by the car of Bruce Moran, of 1887 North Emory drive, when she was struck near the Morningstar school. She was treated at Grady and dismissed.

Mrs. J. Simpson, of 2165 Hardee street, was shaken up when the car in which she was riding with E. S. Hoke, of the same address, was struck from behind by an automobile driven by Mrs. M. Meltz, of 118 Atlanta avenue, at Whitehall and Hunter streets.

Police were searching for the car of Jesse Brown, of 183 Prather alley, following a double collision with a motorcycle and another machine at North avenue and Williams street. J. W. Keith, of 302 Cloudman street, riding the motorcycle, was injured when knocked to the pavement. He said the car which hit him also struck a parked car nearby and failed to stop. A checkup by police revealed the license number was issued to Jesse Brown.

Clarence Sosebee, 9, of 200 Fenwick street, was badly cut when he ran into the side of the car of R. H. Bishop, of 417 Woodward avenue, at Reinhardt and Gaskill streets late Wednesday afternoon. He was treated at Grady. No case was made. Hugh Turner, of 814 Juniper street, N. E., reported that his machine struck Mary Kendrick, negro, on Marietta street when the woman stepped back off a safety island at Forsyth street. She was only slightly hurt.

E. Stephens, of 311 Fourteenth street, N. W., told police a 10-year-old girl named Kirkpatrick was bruised when she stepped into the side of his automobile at North avenue and Chestnut street. She was treated and dismissed at a private hospital.

Meanwhile, the Atlanta Motor Club continued its activity in warning motorists of traffic violations committed in Atlanta.

Cheers Greet Mrs. Roosevelt
On Arrival at Virgin Islands

By BESS FURMAN.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Plans THOMAS, Virgin Islands, March 7.—(AP)—Cheers and music greeted Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt this afternoon on her arrival from San Juan, Puerto Rico.

A band played "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," school children sang a song of welcome and the NRA song, and 12-year-old Elaine Brown stepped forward with roses as the president's wife and her party stepped from their airplane.

A light rain fell as they completed the flight from San Juan. So far the 1,285-mile over-water jaunt from Florida has taken 13 1/2 hours of flying time.

Immediately Mrs. Roosevelt plunged into the interests which brought her to this section—a study of economic and social conditions.

An automobile took her to the municipal hospital where, in a brief ceremony, a building was named "The Anna Eleanor Roosevelt" in her honor. A 55-minute rest was taken in the former place, reached after a jaunt of 2 hours 35 minutes from San Pedro de Macoris, Santo Domingo.

The day journey began at 6:30 a. m. from Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, where Mrs. Roosevelt and her friends spent last night.

Mrs. Roosevelt will leave for St. Croix by air at 10 a. m. tomorrow, and will return here at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, according to plans made tonight. Subsequently the party will proceed to San Juan for dinner tomorrow night with Governor Winship.

The reception here was noisy and gay. Many natives went to the plane.

House Democrats Plan Caucus on Vet Issue

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—A compromise administration proposal on the senate amendments which have added $350,000,000 in veterans' benefits and federal pay cut restoration to the independent offices supply bill will be submitted to a caucus of house democrats tomorrow night by party leaders.

The caucus call was issued today by Representative Byrnes, of Tennessee, the democratic leader, after the administration and informed those in charge of the bill how far it was willing to go on the senate amendments.

The vote to bind the democrats in support of the administration is viewed by party chieftains as the supreme test of White House strength in congress. With every member of the house up for re-election, they are weighing seriously their stand on the veterans' issue.

The compromise proposal is being kept secret. It was reached after a series of conferences between members in charge of the bill and the White House.

torists of traffic violations committed in Atlanta.

The desire of a motorist for harmonious colors on his car was hit Wednesday by officials of the club. The autoist with the eye for color violated regulations for license tags, it was reported. After purchasing a light tan automobile, he decided the blue and orange tag of Georgia did not harmonize well. He had his tag painted light tan also.

In another incident reported to the club, a driver made an "S" turn at Five Points around the traffic tower while two officers stood on the beat nearby. Neither stopped him.

A third case reported concerned a woman driver who snarled traffic at Edgewood and Pryor street during a busy hour. She drove up to the intersection on a red light and stopped, but immediately decided to disregard the traffic signal. She proceeded in low gear directly into the line of traffic and caused a jam among a dozen other automobiles. She narrowly missed several collisions, which would have resulted in property loss and possible injury to persons who were obeying the law in crossing the intersection on the green light.

Many such violations, often flagrantly committed by drivers, are reported daily to the motor club. Letters are written to the offenders, pointing out the error and asking co-operation in making streets safe for motorists and pedestrians alike—free from the danger which last year claimed 64 lives in the city as the direct result of automobile accidents.

in boats despite the rain. Air-line officials gave Mrs. Roosevelt a raincoat to protect her dainty white gown. As the visitors hurried to get out of the rain the populace shouted "Viva! Viva!" and staged a near-riot in an attempt to see Mrs. Roosevelt.

Fund for Victims of Tornado Reaches $3,000 Total Here

Atlanta's fund for the relief of tornado victims in eight Georgia counties Wednesday jumped $1,000 to a total of $3,000 as contributions continued to come in by voluntary subscription while prominent Atlanta men and women completed organization of committees to solicit relief money to complete Atlanta's quota of $15,000.

Twenty-six widely-known women under the direction of Mrs. Max E. Land, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club, began canvassing the city Wednesday, and today and Friday will conduct a concentrated drive to aid hundreds who are suffering as the result of a tornado which devastated Bowen and other communities in Georgia 10 days ago. Working with Mrs. Land are Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Mrs. W. F. Melton, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, Mrs. W. P. Dunn, Mrs. Byron Mathews, Mrs. J. B. Francis Herreshoff, Mrs. J. F. McDougald, Mrs. B. M. Boykin, Mrs. W. Eugene Harrington, Mrs. C. D. Tebo, Mrs. Homer Prader, Mrs. David Mitchell, Mrs. J. O. Sanders, Mrs. C. J. Sheehan, Mrs. R. L. Turman, Mrs. D. J. Swagerty, Mrs. J. H. Bachman, Mrs. Fort E. Land, Miss Virginia Hardin, Mrs. W. O. Wilson, Mrs. Arthur Hazzard, Mrs. J. D. Connor, Mrs. H. C. C. Miner, Mrs. Katherine Conner and Mrs. C. C. Nichols.

The men's committees are J. P. Allen and Raymond Kline, retail merchants; Cator Woolford and R. L. Cooney, insurance; Charles N. Walker, construction dealer; Dr. Louis D. Newton and Dr. Luther Briggs, churches; Jackson P. Dick, public utilities; James deJarnette, hotels, and Robert Strickland Jr., banks.

Committee members will attempt to see every person in the city and all donations given will be handled in the storm area by the Red Cross under Stone J. Crane.

Many contributions were received Wednesday from small towns surrounding Atlanta and churches and Sunday schools in rural districts also gave money to help the storm victims. Donation will be received by The Constitution and will be turned over to the Red Cross for distribution in the form of food, supplies and medicine. W. Eugene Harrington, at 72 Marietta street, is director of the Atlanta relief workers.

Kentucky Man, Woman Fight Duel to Death

CENTRAL CITY, Ky., March 7. (AP)—Alvin A. Ferguson, 56, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Lillian Posey, 50, were found dead today with evidence that they had fought to the death with razor and scissors.

A coroner's jury decided the woman had killed Ferguson and then cut her own throat with the razor, although it had been broken, apparently in their struggle. Because of cuts on Mrs. Posey's face from the scissors, the coroner's jury concluded Ferguson had used them to defend himself from the razor.

I was advised to take Scalf's Indian River Tonic and by the time I had finished the treatment of six bottles my arms had become perfectly smooth. I didn't look as if I had ever had pellagra."

COUNTY APPROVES $1,780,000 LOAN

Interest Rate Less Than Last Year's; 348 Employees Get Pay Hikes.

The annual county loan, which this year totals $1,780,000, was authorized Wednesday by the board of county commissioners and will be handled through the Trust Company of Georgia and the Robinson-Humphrey Co. at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent interest. The interest rate is one-half per cent less than that on last year's $2,000,000 loan. The sum, which is borrowed annually in anticipation of the year's income, will be used for expenses of county administration.

The question of salaries came before the board again with the result that increases were granted 348 men in the public works department, including teamsters, shopmen and other workers. The increase will mean an additional expenditure of about $10,000 in the year's pay roll. It was pointed out, however, that the amount will be reduced, inasmuch as an average of four men are being released by the public works department each month. At a meeting to be held soon, action will probably be taken on a proposal to increase pay of about 100 employees who have been reduced to $135 per month or less. The proposed increases would amount to about $15,000 per year, and would affect principally deputy sheriffs and a number of clerical employees.

Under a resolution authorizing the county to purchase the Lindbergh drive property of the Governor's Horse Guards, the construction of a proposed modern armory under CWA appropriation was given forward. The county has agreed to co-operate with the Horse Guards by acquiring title to the property in order that the proposed $100,000 CWA appropriation may be obtained.

Action also was taken by the board toward the elimination of a parking nuisance existing about the federal prison, caused by parking of cars belonging to employees of the Chevrolet Motor Company. Complaints have been made by officials of the prison that homes of employees are being seriously interfered with. Under an opinion from the county attorney the board passed a resolution that such parking is declared a nuisance and violators will be prosecuted for blocking the public highway.

HITLERISM ASSAILED IN NEW YORK 'TRIAL'

NEW YORK, March 7. (UP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, of Germany, was placed "on trial" tonight in Madison Square Garden with an impressive array of oratorical talent inveighing against him and the principles for which he stands.

The verdict of guilty had already been written before Alfred E. Smith, Samuel Seabury, Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Professor Raymond Moley and a dozen or so others stepped to the platform.

The speakers denounced Hitlerism from every possible angle and at the conclusion of the meeting a 1,000-word resolution condemning the "antiquated and barbarous despotism" in Germany, was adopted. Hitler was not represented and no one "testified" in his defense.

The German ambassador, Dr. Hans Luther, had been invited to appear as his representative. Seabury served as prosecutor "representing civilization" and the "witnesses" represented various phases of American national life.

The speakers in addition to Smith, Seabury, Mayor LaGuardia and Moley included Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state; Dr. Arthur Brown, representing the Protestant churches; Michael Williams, representing the Catholics; Dr. Llewellyn F. Barker, speaking for physicians; Abraham Cahan for the socialists; Chancellor Harry Woodburn Chase for educators; Roger N. Baldwin for civil liberties; Matthew Woll for labor; Professor Seth Wakeman for the International League for Academic Freedom; Gustavus Kirby for sports; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise for the Jews; Dr. Stanley High for writers; Arthur Garfield Hays and Dr. Samuel Margoshes as eyewitnesses; Edward J. Neary for the American Legion; Miriam Beard for the women, and Senator Millard E. Tydings.

Some 200 policemen were ranged about the building, standing in the aisles, sitting in boxes and otherwise guarding against a possible show of resentment on the part of local Nazi adherents.

CAROLINIAN DEFENDS SAWMILLERS' CAUSE

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—Representative Fulmer, democrat, South Carolina, reiterated before an NRA group meeting today his assertion that small sawmill operators in South Carolina should operate on a "common-sense basis" until their code was modified to enable them to "comply with its provisions."

The representative made an unscheduled appearance before the same group that yesterday heard C. C. Sheppard, of the lumber code authority, read two letters written by Fulmer to sawmill operators. Both letters advised "common-sense" compliance with the lumber code and stated Fulmer was attempting to have the code modified so as to exempt small operators from some of its provisions.

Reece Leaves Stand After Heart Attack

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 7. (AP)—The pounding cross-examination of J. I. Reece, marked frequently by caustic retorts, was suddenly interrupted today when the former insurance commissioner accused of a $100,000 theft suffered a heart attack and was assisted from the witness stand.

Reece described the attack as a "mild one" and said he thought he could return to the stand tomorrow for his ninth day. He said he had suffered from angina pectoris for some time, but this was his first attack in about two months.

NEW ANGLES STUDIED IN STAVISKY INQUIRY

3 Startling Developments Made by Officials in French 'Scandal.'

PARIS, March 7. (AP)—Three startling disclosures involving secret symbols, the murder of a prominent judge, and rumors of a coup d'état were made today by officials investigating the $40,000,000 pawnshop bond scandal of the late Serge Stavisky. Members of a parliamentary committee quoted Jean Chiappe, former prefect of Paris police, as saying former Interior Minister Eugene Frot planned a coup to gain the leadership of the government during recent riots that formed a bloody sequel to the Stavisky affair.

Russian, in Capital, Confers on Cotton

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—Peter Bogdanov, chairman of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, discussed today with trustees of the newly organized export-import bank conditions and terms for purchases of American goods by soviet Russia, which may include 500,000 bales of cotton.

At a meeting of the bank's trustees at the state department, attended by Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation, Bogdanov entered into a general discussion concerning the products the soviet would be interested in buying in this country, and the credit attitude to be adopted by the bank.

Jones said the purchase of 500,000 bales of cotton on five-year credits was one of the trade deals in which Russia was chiefly interested. Bank authorities have not yet established any credit yardstick, however, and the cotton purchase is still in the negotiation stage.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 8, 1934.

THE POLICE SITUATION.

In his statement that there is "no crime wave" in Atlanta, Chief Sturdivant puts himself in the anomalous position of being the only resident of the city holding this opinion.

The daily record of crimes of all kinds being committed is so serious that civic and private organizations and the citizens of the city generally have proffered their assistance in remedying conditions that have made life and property unsafe either indoors or out—and the suggestion has even been advanced that the governor call out the militia to aid the police in preserving peace and order.

The police board, recognizing the fact that present conditions are intolerable, at a recent meeting approved a reorganization of the department agreeable to both Chiefs Sturdivant and Poole and told them that they could make any changes in the assignment of officers they believed would result in increased efficiency.

At this meeting Chief Poole, under whose former direction the detective department performed fine service, was reassigned to his former position, and he was told to submit for Chief Sturdivant's approval a list of officers now serving in uniform who he believed would aid the plainclothes squad in tracking down suspected criminals.

Chief Poole promptly prepared a list of 15 names for transfer to his department, among them the names of several who, as former members of the plainclothes department have definitely proven their ability. But no sooner was the list submitted than Chief Sturdivant turned thumbs down on the proposed transfers, making the statement that there would be no transfers of any kind.

No better evidence than this could be presented that there is something radically wrong within the department, and that personal antagonism is wrecking the discipline and efficiency of the department. It is openly charged that Chief Poole is not co-operating to the best of his ability with Chief Sturdivant and that the latter is keeping able detectives on beats because he does not want Poole to make a good showing as the head of the plainclothes squad.

Such a condition is intolerable and must be brought to an end before the city can expect proper policing. In the last analysis, the police board is responsible and must bear the blame if it does not take steps to clean up an impossible condition.

The Constitution has urged for 50 years that the police department should be operated strictly under one-man direction; that the chief be chief in fact as well as in name, being held solely responsible for the conduct of the department and the results secured.

In justice to Chief Sturdivant, it must be said that he has never had such an opportunity. There has always been hanging over his head the Banquo's ghost of political interference, and he will be confronted with the same handicap so long as existing conditions last.

The best service the police board could render the city is to say to the chief: "Here is the department. We will hold you absolutely responsible for results. If you make good, you will be retained; if not, somebody else will be put in your place."

The board should then adjourn and not meet again until a fair test had been given to this method of administration.

The present police board contains some of the ablest members of city council, and they have striven earnestly to cut the Gordian knot of what to do to bring the department to the same condition of efficiency that exists in other cities. That they have been unsuccessful is not their fault, but that of the system. They have told the chiefs to go ahead "on their own," but at best the relief from political interference thus offered to the heads of the department was more in form than in substance.

Despite this handicap, the responsible heads of the police department must realize that the citizens of Atlanta are out of patience with present crime conditions, and that they will not longer tolerate the refusal, because of politics and personal jealousies, to assign each member of the force to the post where he can render the best service.

FOR BETTER TRUCK DRIVING.

The Draper-Owens Company is circulating to its patrons a pamphlet prepared by the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company that should be studied by every truck operator in Atlanta. It contends that "safe operation and profitable operation" are synonymous and that both can be obtained by the exercise of reasonable care in the selection of the drivers of their trucks and the instructions given them.

This large insurance company urges that employers of truck drivers should investigate the previous experience of applicants for position with them, give preference to married men or men between 30 and 40 years of age because they are more careful and reliable, ascertain if the applicant has a police record, and, if possible, pay a little more than the average wage in order to secure a higher type and better class of driver.

It urges further that all drivers should be cautioned to keep his truck under control at all times, rigorously obey all traffic ordinances, give proper signal, carefully check the condition of the truck each day, not only as to the motor but with reference to brakes and tires—and operate the truck, in brief, as "though half the world were deaf, dumb and blind and their safety is in his keeping."

Probably in no city in the country is this advice more needed than in Atlanta.

At every hour of the day all kinds of trucks weave in and out of traffic, making left turns from the right-hand line of traffic, "beating" signal lights, double parking, and running at night with improper lights, or none at all.

Every operator of trucks in Atlanta should secure a copy of the Draper-Owens pamphlet, and follow its guidance.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Nazi Versus Christianity.

The entire effort of centuries in the history of the emancipation of women has been wiped out in Germany by the new regime in that country. Women have been removed from the sphere of social work and other public functions. Their place is in the home, it is said, and in the home exclusively. Nothing characterizes the so-called Nazi revolution as a reversal to the past as this change in the status of women in the Reich. Of course, there is an economic motif to this change. It's not a new idealism. Unable to bring about a measure of prosperity even, let alone fulfill the extravagant promises of well-being and prosperity for all, the Nazis have had recourse to a purge of business and public functions. They have eliminated women, and so created jobs for men.

At that the unemployment figures in the Reich are again mounting. Taxes are ruinously high. Imports exceeded exports by 30,000,000 marks last month. In desperation, Hitler sent a note to France, asking that he be permitted to increase the army, stating that otherwise his own followers would turn against him. Increase the army? There you have it, the Nazi achievement for civilization of the Hitler regime. Beyond that lies conquering other lands to open markets for German industry. Bring back prosperity through blood and destruction! And this regime we are invited to admire as a stabilizing factor in European affairs. A regime that has invented a racial theory, ridiculed the Christian religion, and that relegates non-Aryans to the rank of lesser breeds, Aryans alone being the salt of the earth.

No wonder Rosenberg and Frick are repudiating the Christian religion. Christianity has nothing to do with such barbarous methods. Christianity teaches that all men are the children of God, and it proclaimed a citizenship that transcends all frontiers, announcing that, in Christ, there is no Jew, Greek, Scythian, bond nor free; that all are entitled to the respect of brother to brother. Christianity affirmed long before science came to the conclusion that the brotherhood of man is not a mere sentimental dream, but a biological fact.

Let's Co-operate.

Bertrand Russell writes in Nash's magazine that "everybody knows that the world is in a bad way, but he argues that this is by no means strictly true. He finds himself among holiday makers on the Welsh coast, and although he knows that people occasionally depressed by meteorological depressions, they are not, as far as he can see, depressed by economic depression. Of course, it is right. But it is a fastidious and sophisticated way of arguing. You can go and sit in the lobby of a ritzy restaurant in New York, or Paris, or Budapest, or Sofia, and if it is dinner time you can see the most gorgeous gowns and costumes going in and you may say to yourself: 'Well, this doesn't look like a depression, but that is a foolish way of arguing. That is self-delusion.' Mrs. Roosevelt had a look in the slums of New York the other day. At a luncheon at the home of Dr. Stephen S. Wise she said: 'It's quite a different thing to see an eviction than to read about one in the newspapers. Of course, it is a right thing to see it. I saw this morning, we are still in a bad way.'"

I believe we will get out of it. The one year of President Roosevelt has worked a miracle of transformation, but we're not out of it. We've got to strain ourselves to the utmost to get out of it. We've got to plan in such a way that hunger will be banished from the face of the earth. This depression ought to have taught us the lesson that we must dare to talk in such a way that the masses of political and economic common sense.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

SOME DOCTORS SAY MORE THAN THEY FEEL.

A big shot in the beverage business is spending a slice of the profits "educating" the suckers of his beverage. One important suggestion in features is that his stuff meets the requirements in this and that element declared necessary by Dr. So and So. Comparatively few beverage suckers know who Dr. So and So is. Comparatively few of them read the second-rate women's magazines anyway. However, there is such a person. He isn't a physician at all. He is a man of some degree who entitles him to call himself "Doctor" when that may help put over an article or a lecture. To the man in the know it seems deplorable that such trash promotion can sell the public.

The elements mentioned by the beverage people are present in ample amount in such staple foods as milk, wheat flour, beans, eggs, cheese, cabbage, peanuts, turnips, carrots, etc. But you know the wisecrack mind.

Shouldn't think even the wisecrack would resent the insults such vendors of medicines, foods, raiment and household supplies constantly hurl at him. It is purely an insult to anybody's intelligence for a salesman or saleswoman to offer assurance that "physicians agree" or "eminent doctors say" this or that. It is high time that this brazen imposture were frowned down by honest businessmen.

As long as business itself tacitly assents to the deception practiced by the big shots who have the right to tell the public what "eminent physicians" think of their nostrums, the intelligence (a class far more numerous than these big business crooks like to admit) can only infer that all business is more or less tricky.

People should be more skeptical concerning things about which "the leading physicians" agree. Once in a while someone should really "ask your doctor." When the piccolo player takes advantage of the brief intermission to remind the public what the eminent specialist says, someone should ask for data on the standing of the eminent specialist, and on what the piccolo player bases the specialist's eminence.

There are various ways around Robin Hood's barn, various methods of skinning the cat. If the great specialist of the famous medicine doesn't readily hold out his hand when you ask his price, you can engage him to write some articles or some lectures on some "subject." The general public is pretty glib about the whole filthy business.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON.

TRAP

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The demoralization of republican Senator Fess was a put-up job by a group of old democratic enemies.

They deliberately led him on to attack the administration and then dropped a prepared sandbag on his head, leaving him figuratively and politically cut and bleeding, while they all had a good hearty laugh.

The plot started when democratic Floor Leader Robinson decided to release his pent-up enthusiasm for the new deal in a speech commemorating its first anniversary. He deliberately couched portions of the speech so as to arouse one of two republican senators—the Indiana Robinson or Fess.

Also it was pre-arranged that when either Robinson or Fess responded, the prepared sandbag should be released by the democratic sub-leader, Jim Byrnes.

SANDBAG It worked almost perfectly. Arthur Robinson failed to bite at the bait, but as soon as the democratic leader had concluded, out popped Fess, of Ohio. He is somewhat too thin to be a cherub, but is otherwise angelic. He hit at the administration with innocent enthusiasm.

His argument was sound in spots, but the democrats were not content to let him go his own way. Under their plan they asked him questions leading him on and on, until they finally drew from the Ohioan a statement that the new deal had accomplished nothing whatever.

BYRNES JUMPS Byrnes jumped up and drew from his pocket a mass of clippings of Ohio newspapers.

From Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Canton, Toledo, Dayton, etc., he read praises of the new deal policies Fess had just been denouncing. They filled 14 columns of the Congressional Record, twice as much space as the Fess speech.

Byrnes had similar clippings from Indiana newspapers to read if the Indiana Robinson had attempted to say anything.

AMMUNITION The republican senators do not know it yet, but the democrats have a complete newspaper system of replying to republican attacks. They not only keep the Ohio and Indiana papers clipped up to date, but also papers from other republican states.

The large press clipping service instituted by Louis Howe does the work. They have enough clippings praising the new deal accomplishments to fill the Congressional Record every day.

RULE The very day that Fess stuck out his head, Mr. Roosevelt outlined the new rule for criticizing the administration. He said in effect that criticism was legitimate only when accompanied by a better alternative proposal.

Some of his liberal friends thought he went too far in laying down that rule. Several men said privately that it was the only thing they objected to in his entire NRA speech. It may mean that all critics will have to carry lilies to show their good faith, hereafter.

The truth seems to be that the administration officials resent criticism only when it comes from the conservatives. All the criticism lately from the liberals has gone unnoticed and unanswered.

PRIORITY

General Johnson's letter writers are always getting him in trouble. The latest inner commotion was caused by a smart NRAer who wrote a letter to the National Rifle Association. He stated in a very annoyed way that if the association did not stop using the NRA initials and an eagle on its stationery, General Johnson would get out an injunction against it.

In reply he received a letter from the National Rifle Association asserting that it had been incorporated in 1878. Since that time it had used the NRA initials on its stationery and also an eagle, although not a bald eagle.

In effect it stated:

"If you do not sue us, we will not sue you."

STOCKS Everyone knows the democratic senate leader would not have made that announcement about the uncertainty of stock market legislation without first getting approval from higher up.

Yet that does not mean the legislation is dead. The announcement seemed to have been a trial balloon. If the reaction shows sufficient demand for the legislation, it will be rushed through. If not, nature will be permitted to take her course. The chances still favor passage of a strongly modified bill.

NOTES Professor Tugwell's explainers explain that he joined the Peek foreign trade scheme because he knew it would not be an outstanding success now, but that in six months or a year the time would be ripe for development of foreign trade.

The 5-to-4 majority decision in the New York milk case put the supreme court firmly on record for price-fixing in the new deal.

Representative Bankhead doubled in brass in behalf of his brother's cotton curtailment bill. As co-author of the bill he appeared before himself as acting chairman of the rules committee and induced himself to report a rule for the bill.

The perfect man has been found. He is E. A. Goldenweiser, adviser to the federal reserve. When he took the stand in the stock market investigation, a liberal whispered: "There goes that conservative," and a stock exchange attorney simultaneously whispered: "There goes that liberal."

You Can Pour Oil and Water Into One Vessel, But They Still Remain Separate

By Robert Quillen

It takes something more than a legal or religious ceremony to make a marriage.

The failure of marriage begins, as a rule, before the ceremony. It is destined to fail, whether it ends in separation or continues in strife and boredom, because the "contracting parties" are not qualified, by temperament, capacity or understanding, to become one in spirit and in fact.

Young people very much in love make a success of marriage without knowing how they do it. Their great affection and the pliability of youth solves all problems until habit makes them "no longer twain but one flesh."

There is ample evidence to show that two people can live as mates and yet retain their individuality. And some more prosaic couples make a success of it when the wife goes ahead with her career and the husband does some other kind of work or none at all.

But these are exceptions and make their own rules. Ordinary people cannot hope for a happy marriage if they remain individualists. At the best they will be good friends boarding at the same place—nothing more.

Marriage and individualism are contradictory terms. To speak of "married individualists" would be much the same as saying "the mated unmarried." People who have outgrown the trusting idealism of youth begin their marriage with a secret determination to remain spiritually free. They are selfish and suspicious. They are determined not to give an inch—not to be bossed. They will take but they will not give.

Merely to think of these matters is to invite failure. Such a state of mind makes true marriage impossible. Make no mistake about it, to marry is to become one—by love or reason to purge the heart of all selfishness and serve one another as loyally and naturally as the right hand serves the left.

That is marriage. Anything else is merely living together.

REED PICTURES BURNS

AS PIONEER DEMOCRAT

Robert Burns, the Scot bard, was a pioneer in democracy, and, like President Roosevelt today, was the greatest democrat of his time. Professor Thomas W. Reed, of the University of Georgia, Wednesday night told the Burns Club, of Atlanta, at its monthly dinner-meeting on Dogwood hill.

Professor Reed said that Burns' dream that America would lead the world in democracy is being realized although it has not reached fulfillment.

John McGrindle sang several Scotch songs, and Ed Bray entertained with songs. David B. Evans, president of the club, announced that he would be in the city on March 12. Announcement was made that Dr. S. V. Sanford, president of the University of Georgia, will be the speaker at the meeting on April 4.

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NRA "LOWDOWN" Shoving through the crowds of employers and their agents who have come back to Washington to discuss the matter of wages and employment again, it is a little hard to appreciate the lowdown straight of things. The lowdown straight of it is that General Johnson's current proposal to the industries calls for a minimum wage of 33 cents an hour, which would be a 10 per cent increase, and a 10 per cent reduction in hours from 40 a week to 36. Relatively few people who are able to get any work at all have to accept the lowdown minimum, but some do, and the pay for a full week's work on the scale comes to $11.88. You can figure it over and over but that is all it will come to. Just $11.88 a week. The reduction in hours would make just so many more jobs for people who would regard $11.88 a week as a nice raise over the present scale of no hours per week for a wage of no dollars even.

MONEY LOOSER It is hard to appreciate the lowdown straight of this when shoving through the crowds of employers and their agents in the hotel lobbies. The orchestras weren't playing to any tea-time business in these hotels a year ago and some of the public rooms were dark and closed off. But the orchestra was playing in my hotel this afternoon with a baw-waw-waw and a boom-boom-boom as in the time of the great crazies, and people were spending money on beverages and having a fair sort of time for themselves. Possibly gathered together in the evening. From the sounds which come down the hall from rooms around and about just now some of them would seem to have gathered a nice head of steam, as tired businessmen generally do, according to their right, when they are on the road.

They have nice furniture in these Washington hotels and phones at hand with which to yell down to the room-service for another round of old-fashioned or double-Scotch and maybe, after an hour or so, the menu. But I am not a hurry about the menu. I am ignoring the possibility that these are not the businessmen at all, but journalists on expense account. They sound like businessmen.

CONTRASTING This is not to complain of the fact that some tired businessmen are giving off sounds of gayety and moving money into action in payment for the same. This is not to complain, even, of the fact that a private car is reported to have rolled through Washington a week or so ago, in cotton and kept at just the right temperature, for exhibition in a flower show down there. This is just to mark the contrast between some people's kind of life and that of a class for whom the government wishes to peg the minimum wage at $11.88 a week. It seems no more than right to feel bad about it.

Unless you jab yourself with a reminder like that it is hard to realize in Washington that the panic isn't over yet and that people in large numbers are still so hard up against it that a little more money would be likely to make them. The river never came quite up to their door in Washington, where almost everybody works for the government which prints the money. The capital is nicely detached from the worst of things and it is a wonder that General Johnson can keep himself reminded that there are still people in the country who think of $11.88 a week as something.

30-HOUR BILL

You may be hearing more of a congressman named William Connery, who comes from Lynn, Mass., and looks like Jimmy Walker and used to be an actor. Mr. Connery has a bill, approved by the house labor committee, which would reduce the legal working week to 30 hours per head and pass the available work, if any, just that much farther around. Thirty hours aren't many hours and the general acts as if he didn't much care for this bill, but it seems to be a handy bat with which to clout the employers into submission if they object to his proposal of a 36-hour week.

It seems unlikely that they will ever be able to enforce such a law. People would want to work secretly in the dead of night in little work-shops and it would take a million enforcement agencies and years of spying, prosecution and education to teach the American citizen that it was wrong to work.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY ANNOUNCES D. C. BLACK AS DEALER

Veteran Southern Automobile Man Returns to Active Service

Organization Fully Organized and Now Functioning 100 Per Cent.

Perhaps the item of most interest to local motorists was that made a few days ago by E. D. Bottom, branch manager for the local Ford Motor Company, of the appointment of D. C. "Pinkie" Black as dealer for Ford cars in Atlanta, to operate as D. C. Black, Inc., at 346 Peachtree street, N. E.

This announcement brought back into active circles a real veteran southern automobile man. A man known throughout the entire automobile industry as being one who pioneered the business in this section of the country.

Mr. Black first entered the automobile business as a retail salesman back in 1913 after leaving Georgia Tech, representing the J. W. Goldsmith Company, then dealers for the Hudson and Dodge line of cars. At this post his record was such that national recognition came along with a dealership handling the Dodge line of cars, which he presented successfully for several years. Giving up his interest in the company he secured the Buick franchise for Atlanta, which he operated up to 1932, giving this latter line up to temporarily retire from active business.

"Before making a dealer selection for Atlanta," said Mr. Bottom, "we endeavored to secure the type of representation that is indicative of the Ford dealer organization throughout the entire country, and we are happy that this selection was Mr. Black. He has already proven his ability by organizing his various departments and is now functioning 100 per cent. The men he has appointed are all tried in their various capacities and we consider this a most important procedure before any dealer handling our line of cars is permitted to serve the public. Robert Ingram will have complete charge of all sales activities of the company. He has been with the Ford retail business for over 10 years, and most recently operated his own company, located in Decatur, handling Ford products there. This selection by Mr. Black gives him a man to direct sales that thoroughly understands every phase of the automobile business. This is a real asset to both the dealer and motorist, Mr. Bottom said.

The service department of the D. C. Black Company, located at 41 North avenue, N. E., will be under the direction of Ralph Cannon, one of the south's oldest service men. This building is one of the finest for automobile service work to be found in the city. Their shop has been completely equipped and re-tooled to handle Ford service. Their mechanics have all been trained by factory experts for servicing Ford products.

"Before selecting a line of cars to handle," Mr. Black said yesterday, "I made a very thorough and exacting investigation and am happy to state that I believe Ford to be one of the outstanding car values on the American market today. This opinion was gained after talking with many of my friends and motorists who have driven them many thousands of miles of satisfactory service.

In their display rooms, located at 346 Peachtree street, N. E., they have on display a complete showing of Ford models, with an adequate stock on hand to make immediate delivery of any model desired.

Ford Presents V-Type Engine At Low Cost

Improved Cars Within Reach of Every Family, Says Branch Manager.

That the success of the Ford V-8 for 1933 and the enthusiastic reception given the Ford V-8 for 1934, is conclusive evidence of the popularity of the V-type engine, is the opinion of E. D. Bottom, Ford branch manager in the Atlanta territory.

"The Ford Motor Company," said Mr. Bottom, "has brought the V-type, V-8 engine into a price range within the reach of every American family. The V-type engine has been notable for its performance in higher-priced cars. Ford engineers long recognized the superiority of the V-type engine and it was only after engineering and production problems could be scientifically worked out that this splendid type of engine could be brought to a price level which all of the motoring public could afford to buy.

"As a matter of fact," he continued, "we first introduced this type engine over two years ago, and by progressive development have constantly improved it. Last year we introduced aluminum cylinder heads and this year have made further refinements which not only step up the engine in power, but further increase fuel economy. "The Ford Motor Company have made exhaustive tests on the roads to establish the fuel economy of this car. In 1933 we conducted over 150,000 miles of supervised tests with the Ford V-8, and its mileage averaged 19.7 miles per gallon of gasoline. Not only have we stepped up the power, but new principles applied in carburetion indicate a mileage for the 1934 line of approximately 21-2 miles per gallon.

New Ventilating System. Those who have seen the new Ford V-8 were particularly interested in the unique system of controlled ventilation adopted for the 1934 line. As this system was demonstrated to the dealers it showed clearly the ease of controlled ventilation. Only one control is necessary to operate any single window. Instead of turning out and thus affecting the streamline of the car, the new Ford system has the windows slide back in their panels to any adjusted opening. This permits the full window to open and allows full visibility without interference with the framework. One-piece safety glass prevents rattling. A unique feature of the Ford system is that it permits full use of the front windshield for extremely hot weather.

New, Smart, Handsome Fords Are Hailed as Thoroughbreds

V-8's Are Smart and Handsome in Appearance Both Inside and Out. Engine and Chassis Carry Many Refinement

Smart and handsome in appearance, both inside and out, these new 1934 Fords look the thoroughbreds they are—the most beautiful Fords ever built!

Immediately discernible features of the new 1934 Fords are the new hood, new radiator and grille lines, new instrument panel and new upholstery treatments and, best of all, a new body ventilating system that is of the "clear vision type."

The engine and chassis carry many refinements and several entirely new mechanical developments, the latter aiming principally toward improving the performance and decreasing fuel and oil consumption.

By changing the frontal form, the lines of the entire car appear to have been altered. The radiator shell has been increased in depth, with its forward edge rounded on a larger radius than in the previous model. The curve in the grille has been eliminated and the number of openings decreased. The grille members are a dull finish chrome plate, except the edges, which are a bright finish. The form of the top of the shell, and the ornament surrounding the radiator cap are also new. Radiator shell ornament and cap are chromium plated.

The hood which is carried back almost to the front edge of the doors has two hood latches on each side, making it easier to lift the hood, and also giving a more secure fastening. The louvers in the sides of the hood are straight, to match the line of the grille.

The hub caps and spare tire lock cover, as well as the V-8 insignia on the grille, are also of new design. The streamline of the windshield header is reversed in the downward sweep of the rear roof, giving a beautifully balanced appearance.

The new "clear vision" is similar in principle to that installed in the new Lincoln cars. One of the features of the Ford ventilation system is that it does not restrict the driver's vision with confusing metal strips and when the Ford glass is closed a really watertight seal is provided.

The operation of the Ford ventilation system is simplicity itself. We simply turn the handle to lift the glass. Incidentally, the ventilating system is standard equipment in the full Ford line.

Public Likes Innovations. Thousands of men and women who have seen the Ford were impressed by the many innovations in the interior of the new 1934 line. Its home-like atmosphere appealed immediately to those privileged to see it for the first time. Coved ceilings with concealed dome lights, individual arm rests for all passengers, wide and deep seats of tufted upholstery, are innovations which gave the new Ford line distinguished features both in the front and rear tonneaus.

Careful design in interior decoration is carried out in the paneled window frames, and a unique color scheme of all accessories, such as ash trays, blends harmoniously with the whipcord upholstery. Some 2,268,023 people in 19 days saw the new Ford V-8 at the Ford exposition of progress in New York. Next to the car's stylishness, probably the feature which caused greatest comment at this show was its roominess—its surprising head room and leg room in both front and rear.

Despite this interior roominess the new Ford car is probably the safest car on the highways... "because," as Mr. Bottom put it, "we have been able to keep the fine balance and low center of gravity that makes this car easily managed at any speed."

New Line in Popular Colors. The new Ford line for 1934 carries all of the popular colors in the De Luxe models. The fenders and running gear are blended to match the color scheme of the body. The car has been carefully streamlined and has a new and heavier radiator shell. The front radiator grill carries out the streamlined effect to the front of the car.

The steering wheel has been lowered slightly and, with the adjustable front seat, gives any range of posture for the driver. A new 15-to-1 steering ratio has given the car a small turning radius and makes for easier steering with absolute safety. The new car marks the engineering achievement of 30 years of manufacturing experience. In the last three decades the Ford Motor Company has made over 23,000,000 automobiles, which is about one-half of all the automobiles made by all manufacturers during this time.

to the top of the frame and then, if we desire to use the ventilating system a further half-turn of the handle slides the forward edge of the glass away from the frame, providing a ventilating opening at the front edge of the glass.

The width of this opening varies, from more than one inch in the front doors up to more than two inches in the rear side quarter windows (where rear quarter windows are used). The forward movement of the car provides a "suction" at these vertical openings (between the edge of the glass and the frame), which serves as a means of exhausting air from the interior of the body.

In addition to the normal leakage of air, the entrance of air in small quantities, for cold weather driving is through holes in the bottom edges of the doors. This result is achieved by enlarging the usual water drain holes in the bottom of the doors into slotted openings. The air so admitted passes upward within the shell of the door and into the body along the window ledges. None of this air enters along the bottom edge of the doors. The small amount admitted in this way, and the surface of the body, prevents drafts—yet assures over which it is spread in entering an increasing amount of ventilation as one or more of the window slots is opened.

A particular advantage of this system is that it aids materially in preventing the windshield from "fogging" in damp or rainy weather.

And, listen folks, the ventilating slots between the glass and the frame are "only a part" of the complete Ford ventilating system. This is one of the most important sales features of the Ford car because it also includes a windshield that can be opened and a ventilator in the cowl. Consequently the Ford complete ventilating system is effective all the time, in all kinds of weather.

For Snow or Rain—In cold or stormy weather, the vertical slots between the glass and the frame prevent fogging of windshield or windows by maintaining draft-free circulation. This removes the humid air, from which the moisture would condense on the glass if this air were not drawn from the interior of the car.

For Mild Weather—In mild weather we can open the ventilator in the cowl to permit the entrance of additional fresh air, while the vitiated air is removed from the car by the ventilating slots between the front edges of the glass and the frame. The cowl ventilator is now screened to prevent the entrance of insects in hot weather.

Individual Control—Individual control for front and rear windows and their use as ventilators assures draft-free comfort for each and every passenger—pleasing everyone who rides in the car.

For Hottest Weather—When the weather is hot or humid, the unrestricted flow of air provided by the Ford complete ventilating system, which includes the free flow of air through the open windshield, through the cowl ventilator and through the wide open windows (all easily operated by one hand) assures maximum comfort.

New Low Prices Effects Big Saving To Motoring Public

Ford dealers throughout the south have announced substantially lower delivered prices on all Ford V-8 passenger cars, commercial cars and Ford trucks, effective March 1.

"The announcement of new low delivered prices," said E. D. Bottom, manager of the Atlanta Ford branch, "is in keeping with the Ford Motor Company policy to build a product to standard of quality at the lowest possible cost and to pass on to the purchaser the benefit of any economies."

The new delivered prices on the Ford V-8 De Luxe models include as standard equipment the following: thermostat, closed lighter, right rear tail light, right-hand vizer, parking lights, fenders painted in body color, and the all-important safety glass throughout the car.

Ford is able to make immediate deliveries, it was announced, and this is an important reason why dealer enthusiasm is high—not only over future prospects, but also because the current rate of sale is substantially faster than during the same period last year.

Public interest in the Ford V-8 for 1934 is exceptionally strong, it was stated, chiefly due to the more than 25 improvements assuring increased power, more economy and a stylishness unsurpassed in cars in its price range.

The new passenger cars have free action on all four wheels, providing unusual comfort to passengers. Clear-vision ventilation is another popular feature, distinctive because it involves but a single glass—nothing to obstruct vision.

V-8 engine performance has been improved. Power has been stepped up 12 per cent, yet with a decrease of fuel consumption. Henry Ford on the introduction of this Ford V-8 for 1934 unhesitatingly termed it, "The finest Ford car we have ever built."

ECONOMY OBTAINED IN ENGINE DESIGN

Many motorists are inclined to think that the more cylinders a motor has, the more gasoline it will use, but generally this is not the case, according to D. C. Black, of Atlanta, local Ford dealer.

"What really counts," said Mr. Black, "is the piston displacement; that is, the total number of cubic inches of space in all the cylinders of an engine. Generally speaking, the bore and stroke of a motor with four cylinders is greater than one with eight cylinders. In both cases the displacement may be the same, and the total number of cylinders, therefore, would hold exactly the same quantity of gas, air or water, but the eight-cylinder motor, because of its smoother operation, should burn less gas."

Introducing D. C. BLACK Inc. AS A FORD DEALER

The appointment of D. C. Black Inc., as an authorized Ford dealer is in keeping with the policy of the Ford Motor Company to seek the highest type representation in each community.

For twenty years D. C. Black has devoted his entire time to the sales and service of automobiles in Atlanta.

Associated with D. C. Black is a group of men widely known in the automotive field in Atlanta.

Mr. Robert Ingram, formerly a Ford dealer in Decatur, has joined forces with D. C. Black Inc., bringing with him his entire staff of Ford salesmen and Ford service men.

Mr. Ralph Cannon, widely known in the automobile service business, becomes manager of the service department of the new dealership. Under his direction, thoroughly trained mechanics using improved tools and machinery will service Ford cars and trucks. Only genuine Ford parts, priced low, will be used. All labor will be billed at a standard flat rate.

The new quarters of D. C. Black Inc., at 342 Peachtree Street, between Ivy and Baker Streets, opened today and on behalf of this new dealership, we cordially invite you to inspect Ford V-8's for 1934 on display. The Service Department at 41 North Avenue, between the two Peachtrees, where the most up-to-date equipment has been installed, opens today and you are cordially invited to inspect the complete service and parts facilities offered.

New Clear-Vision Ventilation Especially Designed To Be Draftless

"The handle they love to touch" is the way E. D. Bottom, branch manager of the Atlanta (Ga.) plant of the Ford Motor Company, described the handle which controls the clear-vision ventilation system of the Ford V-8 for 1934.

"Dealers everywhere," he said, "are reporting that the simple operation of this ventilation system is so intriguing to persons viewing the new cars that they almost invariably raise the window glass in order to give the handle the extra half-turn that slides the glass away from the frame, forming a narrow opening that provides draftless ventilation."

"Each window has a single piece of glass—not two sections," he said, "and the ventilation system is called 'clear vision'."

Independent Action on 4 Wheels. "Another feature of the cars that is attracting wide attention," Mr. Bottom continued, "is something which on the Ford is not really new. That is the independent action of all four wheels made possible by the transverse spring. The free action of the wheel of the Ford V-8 has been increased by newly designed spring leaves, providing improved flexibility and quieter action."

More than two million visitors at the recent Ford Exposition of Progress in New York city saw this feature dramatically demonstrated as diagonal wheels were alternately pushed upward yet the Ford body kept steady and level.

Interest in Ford V-8 power, and economy is keener than ever, according to Mr. Bottom. "This is probably due to announcement that the power has been stepped up by 12 per cent at the same time that more miles per gallon are attainable."

"Usually more power means more fuel consumption, but the Ford V-8 for 1934 actually gives approximately 21-2 more miles per gallon. This is largely brought about by a new dual downdraft carburetor and new dual intake manifold.

Ford Roominess Makes Sales. "Only by driving the Ford V-8 for 1934 can one really appreciate the improvements that have been made in it," said Mr. Bottom. "For instance, take the matter of roominess—many a Ford sale was made last year the minute the prospective buyer sat at the wheel, all because the Ford V-8 did its own demonstrating. A car of its low price range offering more head room and more leg room than in 17 other American-built cars couldn't help but stand out."

"And that's the new Ford V-8 for 1934! Plus easier steering due to a 15-to-1 steering ratio. Plus new beautiful interiors with coved ceilings, individual arm rests for all passengers, deeper and more comfortable seats of tufted upholstery. Plus body designs of stylish line and rare grace."

Retail deliveries all over the country are running well ahead of the general trend, Mr. Bottom predicts a large increase in Ford business during the new year. Dealers are unusually optimistic.

To Tag Herring.

WASHINGTON. (UP)—Alaska herring, an important item of the North Pacific fishing industry, will be tagged by a new device the bureau of fisheries has invented to keep track of migrations and catches of food fish. The herring are widely used as poultry food, after being cooked and ground into meal. Small metal tags will be inserted into the body chambers of the young fish. In the process of manufacture, magnets will gather the tags.

V-Type Engine Occupies Less Body Space

The reason why there is more body room in the Ford V-8 than in any other car of the same wheelbase was pointed out yesterday by D. C. Black, of D. C. Black, Inc., Atlanta Ford dealer.

"When we say the Ford V-8 is the roomiest low priced car, we make a statement that can be easily proved," he said. "As a matter of fact this car has more body room than many cars of considerably longer wheelbase. Here is the reason:

"The length of the V-8 type of engine is less than that of a six-cylinder engine, and only about half the length of an engine with eight cylinders in line. As a matter of fact it is less than that of the average four-cylinder engine. The bore of the cylinders is considerably less than that of the old Ford four-cylinder engine, and in addition, the wheelbase of the car is longer than when it was a 'four'."

"The wheelbase of the present Ford car is 112 inches, and from the partition at the rear of the engine—that is, from front of the toe-board under the instrument board—to the rear body wall, the measurement is 108 1/2 inches. This is several inches more than most other cars. It provides more leg room and adds greatly to the riding comfort, for you can stretch out in a Ford. The leg room in the front seat of the Ford Tudor sedan is 27 inches, and in the back it is 20 inches."

Illustrative of the correctness of the statement that the Ford car has more body room than most of the other cars with the same or longer wheelbase, he named 17 American-made cars that have less body length than the Ford.

Ford V-8 Has Been Proved; New Comforts Attracting Attention

A tried and proved car—one that has been tested by hundreds of thousands of owners, is the way the Ford V-8 for 1934 was described yesterday by D. C. Black of D. C. Black, Inc., Atlanta, Ga.

"Although there are many improvements in these cars, there is nothing of an experimental nature," he said. "Most important is the increased power and reduced operating cost. These improvements have been brought about not by any change in the design of the motor, which already had been proved so satisfactory during 1933, but by the development of a new dual carburetor, new dual intake manifold and other refinements."

"Usually an increase in power means also an increase in fuel requirements, but this is not the case with the Ford V-8 for 1934. The power of the engine has been increased 12 per cent and tests have shown that it gives more miles per gallon than formerly. Other refinements also have provided increased economy."

New comfort features of the new Ford cars include a clear-vision ventilation system. An extra half-turn of the handle, after the window glass has been raised to the top, slides the glass away from the front of the frame, leaving a narrow opening through which air is drawn out of the car.

The improved riding comfort of the cars also is attracting wide attention judging by the interest shown by the public in the cars, said Mr. Black.

"The free and independent action of the wheels which the transverse double-cantilever front and rear springs of the Ford provide," he said "is attracting wide attention. At displays where a Ford car has one front wheel and the opposite rear wheel elevated on blocks 12 inches high without affecting the level of the car, it is not uncommon to see spectators get down on their knees to look under the fenders and see how it is done. The secret, if it is a secret, is 30 years old. The Ford transverse spring suspension always has permitted free and independent action of all four wheels of the car, and the safety of

Increased Power Don't Lessen Car's Economy

Increasing the power of a motor does not necessarily mean also an increase in the amount of gasoline and oil it consumes, according to E. D. Bottom, manager of the Atlanta branch of the Ford Motor Company.

"The power of the Ford V-8 for 1934 has been increased 12 per cent, and at the same time its operating economy has been increased," he said. "Tests show that this car actually gives more miles per gallon of gasoline than formerly. This has been brought about, not by any fundamental change in the design of the motor but by the use of a new dual carburetor system and new dual intake manifold.

"The new dual carburetor and the fact that in the V-8 type of engine the carburetor is located in the center of four-cylinder units, facilitates equal distribution of the correct mixture of gas to each cylinder."

"Other features in the economical operation of the new Ford cars," Mr. Bottom continued, "are the low weight per horsepower and the high compression ratio."

Minimum of Dead Weight. "The lighter a horse's load, the faster it will be able to run, and the less strain on the horse," said Mr. Bottom, "and the same principle holds true of a car. Less weight per horsepower means greater capacity for pickup, speed and pulling ability. The weight of the Ford Tudor sedan is approximately 30 pounds per horsepower. And, as evidence of the fact that low weight does not sacrifice safety, let me point out that this weight is approximately three times that of the cars which annually compete on the Florida speedways. A majority of these cars weigh approximately 1,730 pounds and have around 175 horsepower, giving them only 10 pounds per horsepower, yet they withstand the severest strains to which motor cars are ever subjected."

"The compression ratio of the Ford V-8," Mr. Bottom said, "is 6.33 to 1, made possible by the rapid heat dissipating qualities of the aluminum cylinder head, and this high compression means more power, quicker acceleration and higher sustained speed."

FEBRUARY GOES OVER MILLION-DOLLAR MARK FOR FORD HERE

Rapid Return to Prosperity Predicted Through Sales Recorded by Ford Dealers

Each Month Showing Remarkable Increases, Says Local Branch Manager.

Heralding the return of prosperity in the south, the Atlanta branch of the Ford Motor Company delivered well over a million and a quarter dollars' worth of Ford V-8's to dealers in its territory during the month of February.

"Each succeeding month is showing a remarkable increase in sales of the Ford V-8 for 1934," commented E. D. Bottom, manager of the Atlanta Ford branch. "February sales for the Atlanta branch territory this year have broken all February records for the past five years and although an off season, were greater than in any single month during 1933."

"These gratifying sales increases are due to two factors. First, the public's appreciation of the Ford policy of building a car to an engineering ideal rather than to a price, which has resulted in the Ford V-8 having features which are afforded only in cars selling for several hundred dollars more. Second, the undoubted return of prosperity in the south."

"The Ford V-8 is the only car under $2,000 having a V-8 engine, the same type which has broken all records for speed and performance in the air, on the water and on land. Only cars selling from $500 to $2,000 more than the Ford V-8 have such features as straddle-mounted driving pinion, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle and welded steel spoke wheels, all of which are features of the Ford V-8. Only cars selling from $180 to $1,800 higher than the Ford have the following Ford V-8 features: Aluminum cylinder head, 6.33 to 1 compression ratio, 5.12-gallon cooling system, twin water pumps, dual intake manifold, dual down-draft carburetion, tungsten exhaust valve seat inserts and mushroom ended valves, single pane clear-vision window ventilation, Houdaille two-way shock absorbers. With the new lower delivered prices announced by local Ford dealers, we anticipate even greater sales than in the past."

Ford V-8 Car Time Proved, Says E. L. Hicks

Although the Ford V-8 for 1934 has 30 new features, many of them exclusive with Ford or obtainable only in cars costing several hundred dollars more, the performance and economy of the Ford V-8 engine has been proved in many official tests, many automobile races for stock model cars and by hundreds of thousands of owners driving millions of miles under actual road conditions, according to E. L. Hicks, assistant manager of the Atlanta branch of the Ford Motor Company.

"The 1934 Ford V-8 goes even further per gallon of fuel," stated Mr. Hicks, "than last year's model which established records of 18.9 miles per gallon in many official tests totaling over 100,000 miles. Here in the south-east this increased mileage is largely due to the greater efficiency of the V-8 engine as well as the dual carburetor and dual manifold intake."

"The exceptional riding comfort of the Ford V-8," explained Mr. Hicks, "is due to the independent action of all four wheels, yet the safety of the strong front axle has not been sacrificed."

The public is coming to demand the safety of an all-steel body such as the Ford offers, just as in past years, public sentiment made it necessary for the railroads to abandon the wooden passenger coaches in favor of steel coaches.

"An interesting feature of the Ford V-8 is the perfected system of ventilation without any blind spots," said Mr. Hicks. "In the Ford system of ventilation, the window is in one piece and provides perfect ventilation at a half turn of the window handle."

Public response to the new Ford V-8 has exceeded even our high expectations and since its introduction, sales have reached an increased volume each month over the preceding month.

We feel that conditions in the south are improving very rapidly though we feel the public is buying carefully and want proved value this year."

Herbert Nachman Reviews Ford's New 1934 Cars

It has always been with a feeling of close skin to regret that we have frequently noticed the absence of old familiar faces—and as we sighed distantly to ourselves, we realized more and more each year that we must constantly keep making new friends and contacts in order to keep familiar visages surrounding us. And so, for some time, we have noted the passing of the old Ford Model T—the old car of fame and glory—already becoming vastly conspicuous through its mere absence, without realizing that a new Ford friend had entered the picture, to replace the one in the stages of departure.

Familiar.
About the only thing we could find about the new Ford V-8 that could remind us of the quaint old Model T, and the following Model A, or any other models, was the name Ford. The name Ford, and the long, familiar transverse springs that won their way to fame when every Ford was a Lizzie, and every sand road a Fording paradise. We gazed in admiration and amazement at this new Ford V-8, progeny of a long and honorable automobile family—and while we gazed, we made discourse with an amiable and bright-eyed gentleman, who gave us facts and yet more facts, until even our case-hardened hide was immersed in Ford lore.

The 1934 Ford V-8 presents a 1934 appearance, from the heavy, smoothly curving front bumper, over the entire car, and back through the heavy, smoothly curved rear bumper. The 1934 Ford has a distinctive new-type radiator shell and grill-work. Fenders flare smoothly, swinging down to cover the chassis; the back is gracefully tapered; the louvers are of a new and distinct type. Stream-lining is of the more conservative type, combining smart grace with beauty of line. Wheels are one piece steel spoke, and smartly proportioned.

Interior.
The internal appearance of the Ford V-8 has a rich, luxurious appeal that brings this surprising car into the class with any of them anywhere near its price range. Bodies are longer, seat cushions are more luxurious—springy; the driver's seat slides back and forth to accommodate the different sized driver; in the coach models the driver's seat may be tilted forward so that rear seat passengers may enter the car from either side, the dash is handsome, but simple—a glove compartment and, in the de luxe models, an ash tray, are all of the extra dash equipment, the rest of it is devoted to the simplest of necessary knobs and needles and buttons. Rear seat arm rests and ash trays also are to be noted. De luxe models carry safety plate glass throughout.

Speed.
We started the motor, and pulled away from the curb. Instantly, we had that feeling that we had known this car all of our lives—that the driver is actually part of the mechanism, or the mechanism is actually part of the driver—either way, it's the same thing. Away, the new Ford responded immediately to our every whim—spring alertly into high speeds at our slightest command, braking suddenly, silently, surely, at the more touch of our foot on the mechanical brakes. Threading in and out of traffic was surprisingly simple—the response to the driver's every action being so quickly responded to by this fine machine. But we started to speak of speed. Fortunately, we were driving a well-broken in demonstrator, and our sudden impulse toward high speeds found no frowning negative in the eye of the gentleman who was permitting us to set this car through its paces. We found that the 1934 Ford literally leaped into high speeds at the slightest whim of the driver, and with equal alacrity, dropped to a vibrationless idling when called upon to do so. We found the smooth, responsive motor capable of leading from a bare forward motion into high speed in an incredibly short time—no bucking, or lag about it either.

Transverse Springs.
No, the new 1934 Ford V-8 does not have the suspended front wheels. It has, on the other hand, a system of transverse spring which, with the flexibility of the very tip ends, on which the wheels are mounted, give a wheel action vastly similar to that of the suspended front wheel. No matter how much each wheel bounces or jolts around, the frame of the car, through the action of these springs, remains rigidly and even. The result is that there is no bumping or swaying inside the car—and bumpy pavements and dirt roads were negotiated smoothly and at high and low speeds, to prove this contention. Ford, however, goes further than some of the other cars. These transverse springs are mounted on both the front and rear of the Ford V-8, giving both sets of wheels equal ability to operate independently.

Power.
We found the 1934 Ford ample in power. We purposely ran it up a grade of such terrific steepness that we actually did not expect it to meet this test in high gear. Particularly, as we had slowed down to a bare 15 miles per hour. However, the powerful engine justified itself thoroughly—reaching the top of the grade not only in high gear, but at practically the same speed at which it had been put to the test. That is an indication of the power of this new Features.

It would be impossible for us to enumerate all the features of the new Ford. We remark, however, on the particularly effective ventilating system, which does not obstruct the vision in any way—the window being raised in the usual manner, and then an additional half-turn on the crank opens the slots; we remember unique leather pull straps for closing front doors; we recall that doors may be locked from the inside; and that it is impossible to lock yourself out of your own car, even though all the windows may have been locked from the inside when you departed. We remember, too, that sun visors can be readily adjusted, either front or on the side of the driver's seat; arm rests on front doors; metal floor boards, and countless other refinements and improvements. All in all, the 1934 Ford is a far cry from the old model T—yet it possesses that degree of stability and dependability which always surrounded that inimitable car of the masses. Yes, the 1934 Ford takes its place, too, in our opinion, as the finest Ford ever built—another 1934 triumph in the automobile world.

Demonstrates Spring Action

Visitors at the showroom of the Atlanta branch of the Ford Motor Company have shown much interest in this exhibit, demonstrating the independent wheel action of the Ford V-8 by means of the Ford transverse cantilever spring construction, with which the safety of the front axle and radius rods is retained. Large spools mounted off center revolve constantly under the front wheels, causing each wheel to be lifted and lowered alternately to a height of 10 inches, while the body of the car remains level at all times. According to E. D. Bottom, manager of the Atlanta Ford branch, identically the same demonstration may be made with the rear end of the Ford V-8, since it provides for free action for all four wheels.

Garden Pilgrimage Is Discussed

The mass meeting of the garden clubs in the Atlanta zone took place on Tuesday at the Piedmont Driving Club, with Mrs. L. G. Daingerfield, president of the Planters' Garden Club, in the chair. Mrs. Robert L. Cooney opened the meeting, representing Mrs. Thomas Berry, of Rome, president of the Garden Club of Georgia, who was unable to attend.

The meeting was called to discuss plans looking toward the promotion of the garden pilgrimage in Georgia at a future date. Mrs. Daingerfield is the originator of this pilgrimage, which will take garden-minded spectators into the historic and modern gardens in the state. She remarked the fact that Georgia's soil is unusually fertile and spoke on the old missions, forts and remnants of gardens at Santa Catalina Island, which were made by the Franciscan monks in 1550.

Mrs. Daingerfield requested that clubs send information regarding points of interest, such as old and modern gardens and beautiful old homes, along with information of hotel accommodations in the vicinity of these places.

It was announced that a prize will be given for the best poster to be used for advertising the pilgrimage. It was voted that Mrs. James Ogden Wynn be historian for Mrs. Phillip Alston chairman of advertising folders.

Mrs. William Akers, president of the Iris Garden Club, requested members to beautify their homes and grounds for the Garden Club of Georgia convention to be held in Atlanta April 19-20.

Mrs. Harold C. McKenzie Elected President of Atlanta Music Club

Mrs. Harold C. McKenzie was elected president of the Atlanta Music Club at the meeting held Wednesday at the Atlanta Woman's Club, her term of office to extend through the two club years, 1934-35 and 1935-36. Other officers elected to serve with Mrs. McKenzie were Mrs. John H. Mullin, first vice president and chairman of membership; Mrs. Charles Chalmers, second vice president and chairman of evening musicales; Mrs. Harold Coolidge, third vice president and chairman of morning musicales; Mrs. Armand Carroll, fourth vice president and director of junior music clubs; Mrs. Jane Mattingly, recording secretary; Mrs. Mary Nelson Beam, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Clifford C. Hatcher, treasurer.

Mrs. McKenzie, one of the city's most gifted musicians, has for several years been identified with Atlanta's cultural circles and has been a leading figure in music club activities. For the past year she has served most efficiently as third vice president of the club and as chairman of morning musicales, bringing to the organization a group of interesting programs and much enthusiasm as an executive. Prior to that time she was corresponding secretary to the club, and she has also served as a member of the board of the State Federation of Music Clubs.

Many Prominent Missionaries Appear On B. W. M. U. Convention Program

By MRS. L. ASTIN. Publicity Chm. B. W. M. U. FORSYTH, Ga., March 7.—One of the high lights of the Baptist Women's Missionary Union convention in session at Bessie Tift College was the missionary program presented this evening. Miss Emma Leachman, field worker, Home Mission Board, S. B. C., in her inimitable way introduced the missionaries present. Among the number were Mrs. Herbert Caudill, Cuba; Miss Christine Garnett, Cuba; Miss Sara Funderburk, China; Miss Bonnie Ray, China; Mrs. J. L. Hart, Chile.

The presence of these missionaries contributed a genuine spirit of world-wide interest in the scope. It embraces every race under the sun. Any cause as far-reaching as it is must necessarily develop slowly, but it will ultimately succeed. We have every assurance of success in God's Holy Word.

Mrs. S. L. Astin brought a detailed report on the year's publicity and work. Mrs. C. F. Cater spoke on White Cross. An interesting feature of the morning was the vice presidents' hour when messages were heard from the seven divisional vice presidents, who are Mrs. R. L. Maynard, Americas; Mrs. E. L. Tanner, Douglas; Mrs. W. Witholt, Port Valley; Mrs. J. H. Zachry, Atlanta; Mrs. R. B. Corman, Rome; Mrs. Marshall Neils, Hartwell; and Miss Hennihu Hughes, Danville. Dr. Ella A. Fuller, pastor of First church, Atlanta, spoke on the 100,000 Club.

The afternoon session featured an address by Miss Emma Leachman, field worker, Home Mission Board, S. B. C. Mrs. J. C. Lanier, Georgia Training school trustee, presented Miss Carrie U. Littlejohn, principal, W. M. U. Training school, Louisville, Ky., who spoke on religious education. She said "Spiritual values are the only values that are durable and permanent. People think differently just as they acquire knowledge plus wisdom or the power of true discernment and sound judgment. Stability in all areas of life will come only through the application of knowledge and wisdom to our confusing problems."

Departmental reports on mission study by Mrs. W. C. Little and personal service by Mrs. Frederick Smith closed the session. Thursday's program will include many matters of interest and importance.

Mrs. William S. Dennis Jr. entertains this evening at a bridge party complimenting Miss Florence E. Perkins and Louis Landman Ferry.

Winter Tourneys Make American Golf Pros World's Best--Harlow

Just what is the idea behind the annual winter golf tournament program which finds a horde of sun-tanned young men playing golf through California, Mexico, Texas, Florida and up through the southland each winter and spring?

I asked Bob Harlow that question yesterday afternoon when he arrived ahead of the show, so to speak, for the Atlanta Metropolitan open golf tournament, which is to be played at East Lake Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

And the answer was a bit startling. The winter tournament program of the P. G. A., for which Harlow is the tournament bureau manager, is really the great crucible of golf.

Into it are tossed all the young professional hopefuls. And in the grind of tournament play from California through the southwest and Florida they get the answer.

They know, after one of those tours, whether there is any use going on or whether it is best to get a small professional job and stick with it. And leave the tours to the boys that really have it.

It is a terrific strain. That four-ball tournament which was concluded in Miami yesterday, when Denny Shute dropped a 9-foot putt on the 36th green to win, was an example.

Paul Runyan, paired with Horton Smith against Shute and Al Espinosa, had sunk an EAGLE TWO on the 35th to square the match.

"It gets to be quite a strain," said Harlow. After weeks of strenuous play they get a bit jumpy. They are likely to look off into space and say, "Aw, nuts!" to some tournament committee. They don't mean it, but the strain tells. It's travel and play and the competition is fierce.

A FEW OF THE ANSWERS.

There seemed to be plenty of answers to the query about the winter tournament schedule.

In the first place, said Harlow, the professional golfers decided their game needed its space in the papers through the winter. There was every reason to keep interest in golf from sagging during the winter.

State after state was putting in horse racing and dog tracks. Other sports were making inroads. And so the golfers got busy. And from the time the leaves begin to turn brown in the autumn winds until they are green with the verdure of spring, the golfers are in the papers.

The golf public follows them. And tests out new clubs in the living room, usually with dire results in so far as the light fixtures are concerned.

MADE AMERICAN PROS GREATEST.

"These winter tournaments have made the American golf professional the greatest in the world," said Harlow. "There isn't any doubt about that. Our record in winning the British open since the war proves that with reasonable satisfaction."

"Our professionals simply play better golf. They get more golf. And their competition is always consistent and expert."

"The pace gets hotter and hotter. The boys shoot well down in the sixties these days. It's a blistering pace. Frankly, I don't know where it's going to end."

DEAR OLD ENGLAND.

This story amused me. Australia, the smallest of the continents or the largest of the islands, I forget which, is celebrating a centennial, or something akin to one, commemorating some incident in her history.

And the Australians wanted some of the world's best professionals to play in the tournament.

It was a question of whether to get them from England, the mother country of Australia (and of golf, too, for that matter), or get the best ones from America.

And the Australians, with unusual frankness, sent to Harlow and asked for some American professionals to aid in celebrating an English event.

There must have been some severe gyrations in some of the graves near St. Andrews, the cradle of golf, when this invitation went forth.

"THE COLLEGE OF GOLF."

Harlow referred to the winter tournament schedule as an advance "College of Golf."

A great many kids, who know they have no chance at winning even their expenses, are willing to invest about $1,500 and play in the tournament each winter. Harlow reports a number of them entering every year. Some of them stick and become "names" in golf. Others discover the sad, sad truth and drop out.

The leading professionals rarely fail to make expenses. For some of the better ones the winter tournaments are a real source of revenue.

The Atlanta open, with its $2,000 in prize money, is about the average. The richest is the Agua Caliente open with $10,000 in prize money.

RUNYAN, LAFFOON AND REVOLTA.

Paul Runyan, whose eagle two in the four-ball match yesterday at Miami was one of the features of the day, is playing the best game this winter.

He is just one of the well-known and sun-tanned professionals who will be present for the Atlanta open.

Harlow regards the Arkansas boy, whose wrists were developed by his chores milking cows on his father's Arkansas farm, as one of the men destined to become great figures in the game.

From the crop of youngsters he selects Ky Laffoon as the leading young player in the west and Johnny Revolts as the east's leading prospect.

All these and some 50 more will enter the open here, along with the south's better amateurs.

"These tournaments are great things for a state," said Harlow. "They permit the local amateurs to play against the leading professionals and thus develop their own game. And the tournaments provide a great stimulus for golf itself."

BOB O'FARRELL HAS CONFIDENCE IN THE DAZZLER

Dazzy Still Good for Wins Despite Loss of Steam.

TAMPA, Fla., March 7.—(P)—Confidence that Dazzy Vance will win 20 games and that at least half of the club's contests are "in the bag," exuded from Manager Bob O'Farrell today as the Cincinnati Reds raced through another workout.

"Vance is in better shape than he has been in years," he beamed. "I have never seen Dazzy as earnest about going through the training grind and so determined to achieve another great season for himself."

"He may have lost some of his former speed, but take it from me, he has left in his right arm more power than the average hurler can show at his best. Don't let anyone tell you Dazzy has gone to the cleaners. He still is a great pitcher, one of the best."

Pearson Leaves To Join Indians.

FRESNO, Cal., March 7.—(P)—Monte Pearson, of Fresno, right-handed pitcher of the Cleveland Indians, left by automobile for Cleveland today to sign a 1934 contract.

Pearson was a holdout until he received a "very favorable" wire from General Manager Bill Evans.

Card Infield Drills on Defense.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 7.—(P)—The St. Louis Cardinal infield had its first defensive drill here today in the second workout of the training season.

Leo Durocher, who is favored to win the regular job at short, still is absent, and Burgess Whitehead, from Columbus, worked at his position with Pepper Martin at third base, Manager Frank Frisch at second and "Ripper" Collins at first.

Root Settles His Salary Row.

AYALON, Santa Catalina Island, March 7.—(P)—Salary differences between Charlie Root and the Chicago Cubs were ironed out today and the burly right-hander affixed his signature to a contract offered by William M. Walker, president of the club.

Root's signed left Bill Herman, second baseman, the only holdout in the Cubs' training camp. Manager Charlie Grimm said he had not heard from Herman.

Hornsbly Pleased With Al Strange.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 7.—(P)—After watching Al Strange work out at shortstop in a practice session here today Rogers Hornsbly, manager of the St. Louis Browns, looked highly pleased.

"That settles one worry," he said. "Strange showed me enough already to prove he's better than Levey."

Jim Levey was traded several months ago, in a deal which brought Strange from the Hollywood team of the Pacific Coast league.

Mrs. Keeler Loses Albany Match

ALBANY, Ga., March 7.—(P)—Favorites in the third annual Radium Springs invitation golf tournament for women came through first-day matches with ease today, not a single upset featuring the play.

Mrs. Opal Hill, medalist, had little trouble in defeating Mrs. Katherine Hodges, of Albany, 8 and 7, and Mrs. Bernice Lippitt, of Albany, 6 and 5.

Other matches saw Mrs. Joe Lawler, of New Rochelle, N. Y., triumph over Mrs. C. B. Keeler, of Atlanta, 6 and 4, and Mrs. Margaret Bauer, of Providence, R. I., disposed of Mrs. Floyd Alford, of Albany, 7 and 6.

Kathleen Garham, of London, England, trounced Miss Elizabeth Rhin, of Boston, Mass., 6 and 4, and Dorothy Richards, of Boston, Mass., defeated Mrs. Emmett Acres, of Albany, 8 and 7.

Mrs. Richard Tift, of Albany, eliminated Mrs. Kay Frueberger, of Providence, R. I., 4 and 3, and Mrs. C. B. McCubbin, of Kansas City, took her match from Mrs. Terry Price, of Albany, two up.

J. P. C. Reds Play

J. E. A. Tonight

A basketball game that promises to be a natural in every respect will be offered fans on Thursday night at 8 o'clock on the Jewish Educational Alliance court, 315 Capitol avenue, according to an announcement by Barney Mediant, athletic director of the institution.

Marked by keen rivalry the game will bring together the Jewish Educational Alliance All-Stars and the Jewish Progressive Club Reds. Composing the All-Star roster are the outstanding players of the basketball league now in progress at the Alliance. A few of these boys are members of the various high school teams.

In their opponents, the J. P. C. Reds, the All-Stars will encounter one of the strongest amateur teams in the city. The Reds will have a decided advantage in height and experience.

Ward, Patterson On Heights Card

Bill Ward, Marietta, will meet Whittie Patterson in the main event at the Lakewood Heights arena tonight on Promoter Frank Bettis' weekly card. These two boys, both outstanding in their class, will meet in a winner-take-all, no-time-limit match.

After Patterson knocked out Ward last week with a right to the jaw, after 90 minutes of wrestling, the fans demanded they be rematched for this week.

Ward has a large number of fans coming to support him from Marietta, Ga., with hopes of seeing him pin the Panther.

Young London, the up-and-coming Atlanta wrestler who has not been defeated in several months, will wrestle Irish Pat Austin in the opening one-hour match.

Calhoun Wins Special Shoot Against Orr

By Jack Troy.

They met on the field of honor with shotguns after a lapse of more than a month yesterday. And quite a duel it was, this one staged at the Capitol Gun Club.

They went after each other with deadly intent. And when the firing ceased J. C. Calhoun stood over the prostrate form of Jake Orr. He might have beat upon his chest like Tarzan. But instead he held proudly aloft a silver sherbet.

It was away back on February 7 that Calhoun and Orr, two of the best shot in the state, met for the trophy in a Wednesday shoot at the Capitol Club. And yesterday marked the first time both had been out at the same time since that memorable day.

Calhoun's score in the special 25-bird shoot-off was 24:25. Orr came close with 22:25. But not close enough. It was like reaching for a pie through a closed window.

In the regular program yesterday Clyde King Jr. won a silver sherbet with a scintillating 52:50, which included his handicap. Calhoun came within a broken target of tying King, having a count of 51:50.

Other scores included Jack Tway, 50:50; Charles Nunnally, 50:50; Benson Freeman Jr., 47:50; Healey, 47:50; Jack Gray, 46:50; Dr. R. F. Ingram Jr., 46:50; Oliver Healey, 46:50; Walter Huff, Macou professional, 44:50; P. M. Gilbert, 44:50.

Several sportsmen tried skeet for the first time. Included were C. K. Radebaugh, 35:50; Grady Clay Jr., 24:50; J. T. Mitchell, 18:25; and J. I. White, 14:25.

CLAY PROMISING.

All made excellent shows, particularly young Grady Clay, who seemed very promising as a skeet shooter.

Walter Huff, veteran Macon professional and one of the finest figures in southern transmuting circles, made his first straight at skeet yesterday. He was very proud of the accomplishment. His 26:25 was the only one of the day.

Singles scores on the 16-yard traps included L. E. Grant, 46:50; Walter Huff, 46:50; C. W. Tway, 43:50; Oliver Healey, 37:50; William Healey, 36:50; P. M. Gilbert, 32:50; Clyde King, 30:50; Doubles scores: Benson Freeman, 42:48; C. W. Tway, 36:48; Walter Huff, 34:48; Jack Tway, 32:48; and Jack Gray, 30:48.

The Brooklyns, in frantic efforts to rebuild, let Wright out. The former star major leaguer thinks he will do a comeback in the Association, where many players from the major leagues have regained form in shape in the warm weather down there and maybe to talk a bit with his old surgeon, Dr. Whitman, at Miami.

He added that Atlanta was very fortunate to get Uncle Robby as its president.

"He's a real big leaguer and a great fellow to have running the ball club," Wright said. While here Wright also renewed acquaintance with Spencer Abbott, former Kansas City manager.

Boys' High won the Chapel Hill meet two years ago and placed second there last year, in addition to winning the state and G. I. A. A. events here.

Abbott also expressed keen delight in getting Joe Palmsano, his catcher at Portland, to come here. Palmsano, now visiting his mother at West Point, Ga., will come to Atlanta this week for a conference with Abbott and very likely will sign up while here.

"Joe has a great arm, is a good heater and in my opinion, the best catcher in the country last year. I expect him to catch a majority of our games."

Palmsano, a former Tech boy, should be a popular hero here.

"I don't want to seem too optimistic over our chances. I don't know what we will do or where we will finish, but I think right now we're in good shape on players. We have men that I know will hustle and they've got plenty of speed. If the pitchers come through, we'll be all right for I think we will get the hitting," Abbott added.

He said that he had had letters from practically all the players and that all seemed satisfied.

"As for getting a long-distance slugger for the club, it has been my experience that most of the heavy hitters are big slow birds. I don't want that kind on my ball club—those 'double-play' fellows that clog up the bases. I'll take speedy players every time," he concluded.

Ted Veach, a pitcher, signed his contract yesterday, making some 24 in the fold.

SHUTE DROPS A NINE-FOOTER TO MATCH

Runyan and Smith Relieved of Four-Ball Title at Miami.

By Alan Gould.

MIAMI, Fla., March 7.—(P)—As the final stroke of a thoroughly tingling golf finish today, slender Denny Shute, of Philadelphia, the British open champion, rapped in a nine-foot putt on the 36th green that was worth exactly $500 and clinched the international four-ball professional championship for himself and his Spanish partner, Al Espinosa, of Akron, Ohio.

They defeated the defending champions, Sharpshooting Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., and Horton Smith, of Chicago, one up, in a match whose excitement was carried right down to the last hole for the benefit of a gallery of 1,200 spectators at the Miami Country Club.

The victory was worth $750 apiece to Shute and Espinosa. The losers collected $500 each. The result kept intact the precedent by which no team has been equal to the task of repeating its triumph in the tournament since it was established in 1926, but Smith and Runyan came closer to turning the trick than any other combination.

TRAINED ALL WAY.

Favorites after their record-smashing shotmaking earlier in the week, Smith and Runyan never were in the lead at any stage of the final match. Fighting until all the way, they squared the match once in the morning and three times during the afternoon round.

The diminutive Runyan sank a 15-foot putt for an eagle two on the 35th hole to deadlock the score for the last time, only to overplay the home hole and see his rival, Shute, combine the approach and putt, which settled the match with a birdie four.

One down at the end of the morning round and three down after the last hole in the afternoon session. Smith and Runyan battled their way back to even terms again at the short 26th, where Runyan sank a 7-foot putt for a deuce. Still all square, with seven to go, the two teams went on a scoring spree that has had few equals for thrills in professional competition. It took nothing less than a birdie to win or have to decide the seventh hole and an eagle to decide the seventh as both sides handed old man par a terrific drubbing.

THE FIREWORKS.

The five-star fireworks began on the 30th green, where Smith chipped in from 35 feet for a birdie 3 and Espinosa made through with a difficult 12-foot putt for the birdie. Shute stepped in to hole out from the 31st green, for a birdie 3, putting his side one up again. Smith was only five feet away when he approached the 32d and got the putt down for a 3 that squared the match once more.

Only to have Espinosa pump a spongy hole high, four feet to the left of the pin on the 32d-yard 33d, and get his deuce.

Runyan saved the half with Shute on the 34th with a splendid chip 25 to the hole from the side of a bunker. Hole high on the 243-yard 35th from the tee, Paul ran down a 16-foot putt to square the match. The only question on the last hole, longest on the course and 504 yards, was who would get home with his third. Runyan, otherwise the most accurate shotmaker of the quartet during the day, overplayed the hole and hit it within 10 feet of the hole. Shute, who won't get home with his third. Runyan, otherwise the most accurate shotmaker of the quartet during the day, overplayed the hole and hit it within 10 feet of the hole. Shute, who won't get home with his third.

Wright on route to Florida with Mrs. Wright, stopped here several hours to see the Cracker president and "Ma" Robinson, of whom they are very fond.

"I hate to leave the big leagues, but I believe that I'm going to like playing for Roger Peckinpaugh, the manager at Kansas City," Wright stated.

Before going to big leagues, Wright played for the Blues and was very popular in Kansas City.

Wright revealed the fact that he had turned down a chance to go with Detroit to take the Kansas City offer, which he considered a better one.

Glenn was the shortstop at Brooklyn for five years. Previously, he had starred for five years with the Pittsburgh Pirates, participating in two World Series—in 1925 under Bill McKechnie, now boss of the Boston Braves, and in 1927 under Donnie Bushie when he was a great player for the Pirates.

He also played some good ball for Wilbert Robinson, at Brooklyn, although he had considerable trouble with his arm. A miraculous operation by a Florida surgeon restored it for a time and he showed flashes of his old brilliance at Pittsburgh.

LET OUT.

The Brooklyns, in frantic efforts to rebuild, let Wright out. The former star major leaguer thinks he will do a comeback in the Association, where many players from the major leagues have regained form in shape in the warm weather down there and maybe to talk a bit with his old surgeon, Dr. Whitman, at Miami.

He added that Atlanta was very fortunate to get Uncle Robby as its president.

"He's a real big leaguer and a great fellow to have running the ball club," Wright said. While here Wright also renewed acquaintance with Spencer Abbott, former Kansas City manager.

Boys' High won the Chapel Hill meet two years ago and placed second there last year, in addition to winning the state and G. I. A. A. events here.

Abbott also expressed keen delight in getting Joe Palmsano, his catcher at Portland, to come here. Palmsano, now visiting his mother at West Point, Ga., will come to Atlanta this week for a conference with Abbott and very likely will sign up while here.

"Joe has a great arm, is a good heater and in my opinion, the best catcher in the country last year. I expect him to catch a majority of our games."

Palmsano, a former Tech boy, should be a popular hero here.

"I don't want to seem too optimistic over our chances. I don't know what we will do or where we will finish, but I think right now we're in good shape on players. We have men that I know will hustle and they've got plenty of speed. If the pitchers come through, we'll be all right for I think we will get the hitting," Abbott added.

He said that he had had letters from practically all the players and that all seemed satisfied.

"As for getting a long-distance slugger for the club, it has been my experience that most of the heavy hitters are big slow birds. I don't want that kind on my ball club—those 'double-play' fellows that clog up the bases. I'll take speedy players every time," he concluded.

Ted Veach, a pitcher, signed his contract yesterday, making some 24 in the fold.

CRACKER PILOT IS SATISFIED WITH SET-UP

Best Players Possible for Money Expended Will Aid Atlanta.

By Jimmy Jones.

Expressing satisfaction with the player set-up for the new stands and adding that he hopes to develop three starting pitchers who will win 20 games apiece from the list of 20 that he will take up to March 15, Spencer Abbott, new Cracker manager, arrived here yesterday with his family from Washington, D. C., to take up residence until the season is over. He will head the first squad of players reporting at Macon on March 15.

"We have 20 pitchers on the roster," said Spencer. "Some of them I don't know anything about, but what I have heard, and others I do know about, but I feel safe in saying that I think I can get out of that bunch six pitchers who will win in this league."

Abbott pointed out that three good starters and two fair ones could carry any team to a 1-2-3 finish in the Philadelphia Athletics and their Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg of a few seasons back as an example.

THREE WINNERS.

"If I can produce three pitchers who can win 20 games apiece and three more who can win 10 apiece, you see right there that it's good enough to get you up around the top."

Abbott added that he could carry only six pitchers through the season under the present roster limit and that they must be good ones.

"As for the rest of the team, I don't see how we could have gotten better men for each position for the money spent. The catching staff, with Palmsano heading it, is going to be o. k. I know what that infield of Taylor, James, Chatham and Knoche can do and we have outfielders to pick from," Abbott continued.

He is sure of "Pip" Koehler's ability to hit over 400 in the Southern league, since he has hit that figure for four or five years in the American association and is a good fielder. From what he has heard of Duck McKee, he is sure he will like him all right.

As for the other outfield post, he has Vern Johnson, a slugger of reputation from the Western league. Taft Wright, a classy youngster from Charlotte, whom Johnny Dobbs recommends as highly, and Ray Wise, also a Charlotte man who batted around .340 for that club last year, and quite a ball hawk. Paul Hahn and Asa Dill are two youngsters who also will be looked at.

BARRON ON ROSTER.

"Red" Barron, another outfielder, still is on the roster, but it is not yet known whether or not Red will be active this year, due to his duties as president of the Monroe school.

"The reports I have had on the new players have pleased me, but of course a manager can't see them all. Spencer has had a look at them," Spencer added.

Getting back to the pitchers, Spencer stated that he considered the department fairly strong as it stands.

"Of course you can always use a good pitcher, but I think we are not so badly fixed there with a mixture of veterans and youngsters."

"Frank Barnes and Art Jacobs, the two left-handers, I know, will give us two good starters and from what I hear of Hugh 'Red' Wright, as well as the two young right-handers, they have a lot of stuff," he continued.

Abbott also revealed the fact that he was consulting with Bill Schmidt, a young semi-pro from the Coast league, and Joe Maley, a veteran, to surprise a few of the galleries at Macon.

SCHMIDT PROSPECT.

"Schmidt has been pitching winter ball out on the coast and, I understand, against some of the best hitters. The man who recommended him to me that he might make a good pitcher for us. Joe Maley, whom I picked up as a scout, is a right-hander who will get a chance."

He has pitched winning ball in the International Association.

Regarding Joe Bowman, the right-hander purchased from Portland by the Giants on Abbott's recommendation, Spencer gave forth the news that he had had another talk with Bill Terry, who has just returned from the Giants and has assured him that he would stick by his promise.

Abbott, however, isn't counting too heavily on Bowman, for he expects him to stick with the Giants, he's that good.

BANKS ON JACOBS.

Spencer also revealed that he is banking on Art Jacobs, the left-hander who was last year for him at Portland last year and helped to save many others, to do the bulk of the Cracker relief pitching this year.

"Jacobs is one of those rubber-armed guys, who can pitch every other day. I've used him in some awful tight spots as many as three times, but he's a real mule. He's been an ace in the hole for us."

Jacobs is a screw-baller, like Carl Hubbell, and is tough to hit when he's right. Barnes, Abbott says, has good control and a fine curve and should be a first-class starter.

Abbott also expressed keen delight in getting Joe Palmsano, his catcher at Portland, to come here. Palmsano, now visiting his mother at West Point, Ga., will come to Atlanta this week for a conference with Abbott and very likely will sign up while here.

"Joe has a great arm, is a good heater and in my opinion, the best catcher in the country last year. I expect him to catch a majority of our games."

Palmsano, a former Tech boy, should be a popular hero here.

Pros Continue Par-Shattering in Practice for Metro Open

TONY MANERO HAS GREAT 70; OTHERS UNDER

Jones, Picard, George and Al Sargent Take Gallery for Afternoon.

By Roy White.

A five-hole consisting of Charley Lacy, Long Island, New York; Dick Metz, Deal, N. J.; Tony Manero, Greensboro, N. C., and Berrien Moore Jr., a member of Georgia Tech's golf team, set the pace Wednesday in the second day of practice for the first annual Atlanta Metropolitan open golf championship which opens Friday on the No. 1 East Lake course. Manero carded 70, two under par, with Lacy, Metz and Laffoon, one stroke away, and Moore only a few strokes back of the leader. Today will be last of the practice rounds.

Although the five-hole took scoring honors, it was a foursome composed of Bobby Jones, Henry Picard, the young Charleston (S. C.) pro; George Sargent and Al Sargent that took the gallery for the afternoon. The foursome did not score particularly good, but the spectators were rewarded with some excellent golf at times. The entire foursome was driving well, but putting was decidedly off. Picard's drives were particularly good.

GALLERY. Included in the gallery picked up from scattered points on the course were little Dorothy Kirby, Georgia's sensational young woman's champion; P. G. (Buddy) Hanes, Jr., who scored a hole in one during the southern amateur last June at East Lake; Thomas B. Paine, a former member of the United States Golf Association and who purchased the first ticket to the Metropolitan open, and many others.

Practically all of Wednesday's players found the going a bit tough, particularly in putting. Bobby Jones placed his ball on No. 9 with a few feet of the cup and took three putts. Henry Picard was another whose putts would not drop consistently.

Of more than 40 golfers who drove the 18th green, only Scott Hudson Jr., secured a birdie there during the afternoon.

There was no fault to find in the drives and iron play Wednesday, but it was on the greens where the scores mounted. The greens have been given special attention and with another day of bright sunshine should be in excellent shape and very fast during the tournament.

PANAMA ENTERS.

Two entries from Panama, Central America, Jimmy Vincent and Hugo Nash, came in early Wednesday and practiced during the early afternoon. Two other new pro entries, Ralph Stonehouse, of Indianapolis, Ind., who won the recent Miami open, and G. N. Smith, checked in and toured the practice course Wednesday.

Additional amateurs to the entry list included Gene Kines, Augusta; Bill Kaiser, Louisville, Ky.; Gene Dahlbender, George Van Hart and J. J. Jones Jr., Ansel Park, and Teddy Hayes, Candler Park.

A majority of the country's outstanding professionals are scheduled to arrive today and practice during the afternoon.

Others who practiced Thursday were Harry Stephens, Julius Hughes, E. G. Ballenger, from Druid Hills, and Johnny Owens, from Capitol City. They played an additional nine holes shortly before dark.

Scott Hudson Jr., former city champion, played nine holes Wednesday morning with Willie Oez, former East Lake professional and inventor of the Oez-mated iron clubs, and finished the day in an 18-hole round with Dr. W. C. Warren Jr., Hugh Carter Jr. and R. A. McCord.

FAMOUS GEORGIA ATHLETES

William E. Fincher, Tech's Tackling Terror.

Southern football has seen a lot of great linemen, but it is doubtful if it will ever see another such as William E. (Bill) Fincher, the boy from Murray county.

And many an autumn sun will rise and set over Grant field before it shines on a better football player than Bill Fincher was during his five years at Georgia Tech.

Tech people associate his name with the six greatest football teams ever turned out at the Platts. It is a name synonymous with victory, for Bill Fincher, as a player, participated in but two games that were lost by Georgia Tech at Grant field.

FOUR GREAT YEARS.

He played four years under Heisman when the jump shift reached its lethal zenith and one under Bill Alexander on the latter's great team of 1929.

Bill Fincher was a member of four Tech football teams that won the southern championship in the seasons of '16, '17, '18, '19 and '20. And he was Alex's line coach for the southern champion of 1927 and the national champion of 1928.

So you see that the name of William Fincher goes hand in hand with Tech's greatest football triumphs. As a player, he was versatile as well as powerful. He handled his 185 pounds superbly. At one time or another, he played every position on the Tech line. Substitutes—good ones—were scarce in those days and Bill Fincher's versatility came in handy.

There was only one line substitute, Babe Higgins, and when a player was hurt he took his place at tackle and Bill was rushed to another sector of the line to fill up the gap.

JUST ONE SUB.

Joe Guyon, the great Tech back, was another versatile player like Fincher. And Joe had but one man who could sub for him in the backfield—"Shorty" Guille. It was a good thing for Tech that Bill Fincher and Joe Guyon were what we call 60-minute men in those days.

The Tech varsity squads of 1916 and 1917 included only 18 men. Think of that. But they were good men for the most part, particularly that first eleven.

Bill Fincher ascribes his versatility to the fact that at Tech High school, where he prepped in 1913-14-15, he played line under Coach Al Loeb, old Tech center, the first year; Zeke Martin, a Vanderbilt man, the second, and Boomer Pitts, an Auburn man, the third. He absorbed a variety of coaching from those three men.

The late Walter Camp thought enough of Fincher's versatility to put him at an end on his All-American team of 1920—what we call a variety of coaching from those three men.

Bill was captain of the Tech team in 1918 and alternate captain of the 1919 eleven. This latter team suffered the only two losing games that Bill ever played in at Grant field. Tech lost to W. & L. 3-0, and to Auburn, 14-7, that year.

The 1916 and 1917 teams did not lose a game. The 1918 team—the war team—lost but one, to Pittsburgh, 22-0. And the 1920 team, Bill's last team, lost one to Pitt, 10-3.

HIS GREATEST GAME.

With these exceptions, the Golden Tornado blew straight over everything with Bill Fincher helping to pave the way.

The season of 1919 was the only one in which Fincher did not make All-Southern. This latter team suffered the only two losing games that Bill ever played in at Grant field. Tech lost to W. & L. 3-0, and to Auburn, 14-7, that year.

He considers the 1917 team the greatest offensive team Tech has ever had and the most versatile team.

BILL FINCHER.

"You were right in your quotation of Albert Hill the other day on that 1917 backfield. It was a backfield that could do everything. It usually got a first down in three plays."

From a standpoint of the greatest kicker the south has ever seen if he had only had more kicking to do. Those teams he played on seldom had to kick," Bill recalled.

THAT PENN GAME. The Pennsylvania game of 1917 which Tech won, 41-0, stands out along with the Pitt game of '20.

"I'll never forget how we reversed around Heine Miller, Penn's All-American end, that day, and how we stopped Howard Berry, their All-American back. Miller tried to cover both ends. He would run over to stop a play the way the shift was headed, only to have a reverse pulled over to the side he had just left."

From a standpoint of both backfield and line, Fincher rates the '17 combination best, with 1928 and 1920 outfits just a shade behind.

Of individual players that he has coached and played with, he offers some interesting comment.

He considers Joe Guyon the greatest of all-round backs this part of the country has ever seen. The 1927 team, Strupper, Barron, Flowers, Guyon, Thomson and Mizell as the greatest Tech backs.

He considers Six Carpenter, Vance Maree, Al Staton, Frank Speer, Mack Tharpe, Papa Hood and Kenneth Tharpe as the outstanding tackles he has coached and played with at Tech.

THARPE WAS GOOD. "Mack Tharpe is the most underrated tackle Tech has ever had, in my opinion; he rates with almost any tackle that Tech has produced," Bill declared. He felt the same about Al Staton.

Of all the great Tech games that he has ever seen, the 1927 game with Alabama gave him the biggest thrill—greater in fact than any other that he played in or saw—for it broke the spell of Wallace Wa's teams at the Platts.

Sully Montgomery, the old Centre tackle and later a second flight heavy-weight fighter, was the best opposing linesman he ever saw, and he saw Sully only in the Centre game of 1920, which Tech won 24-0 over McMillin and that crowd.

TAUGHT MANY STARS. As a line coach, Bill Fincher had some great pupils—Jones, Maree, Waddy, Pund and Drennon. At Tech High, where he coached for four years, he had Frank Speer, a Tech All-American and now a well-known professional wrestler.

His first year as coach was at William and Mary in Virginia. He later came to Tech High to coach four years and became Tech's line coach in

AL VANDERBILT PLACES FAITH IN DISCOVERY

$25,000 Racer Is Royal Prospect To Win Classic at Downs.

By Thomas H. Noone.

NEW YORK, March 7. (UP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Discovery, chestnut son of the erratic Display, out of Ariadne, is a royal prospect to win the sixtieth running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, May 5, in the opinion of J. H. (Bud) Stoller, veteran conditioner of thoroughbreds.

Discovery, which young Vanderbilt bought last fall from Adolphus Pons for $25,000, wintered with the Sagamore farm in Maryland and is under the direct supervision of Stoller, who is preparing the gelding for his Derby engagement.

Though Discovery did not win a stake race last season, he finished second to Mata Hari in the Kentucky Jockey Club stakes, second to Chicstrav in the Walden handicap, third to Bazaar in the Hopeful stakes at Saratoga, third to Mata Hari in the Breeders' Futurity and third to Chicstrav in the Richard Johnson stakes. He was fourth on the list of money winners with $8,397.

Red Wagon, which with Drexel was also named to sport the Vanderbilt silks in the Derby, is another possibility to go to the post in the mid-and-quarter classic. This gelded son of Canter-Roulette made nine trips to the races in 1933. He won three times, one of his triumphs coming in the United States Hotel stakes at Saratoga. He finished second in the Flash stakes and Albany handicap at the Spa oval. He earned $9,100 in his juvenile campaign.

Drexel, a gelding by Trojan-Blazing Ember, started 13 times last season. He was not a stake winner, but netted $4,500 in purses in 1933 after winning seven races.

Tom Kearney, St. Louis betting commissioner, reports heavy support for Discovery and Drexel in the gelding's odds to 20 to 1. Kearney offers 50 to 1 against Red Wagon and 200 to 1 against Drexel.

Rosenbloom Signed For Bout at Macon

MACON, Ga., March 7. (AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight champion, has been signed for a non-title match here March 16. Johnny Lamb, local promoter, announced today.

Lamb said he had mailed an offer to "Cyclone" Smith, of Fort Benning, to be Rosenbloom's opponent. They have met before in non-title contests.

The idea seems to be that it is "easy" to go bird hunting with scatter guns. At any rate, the following story by W. B. Robinson, attorney of Chatsworth, Ga., will give you an idea about the "Easy Tales" contest sponsored by The Constitution in the interest of hunters and fishermen of Georgia.

"Since the time has not expired in which to contribute to your hunting and fishing contest I would be glad for you to enter the following circumstance which I think would give some of these fertile minds an idea.

"Some time ago in a snow the writer discovered a covey of birds, 11 in number, hiding under a log in a place where the snow had not covered. At the time, and after going over the field of possibilities in connection therewith and having only a pine knot in my hand and a .32 caliber pistol in my pocket, I threw the pine knot into the huddle killing nine of the birds and killed the other two with the pistol as they flew away—thus getting the entire covey. Since that time I have fallen very greatly to the use of said pine knot and pistol for this purpose."

The Constitution contest closes March 15. There is still time left to enter your story if you haven't already done so.

The contest is proving very popular. Responses have been received in overwhelming numbers. And they continue to pile in daily.

Certificates will be awarded for the three stories considered by the judges to be the best. Honorable mention will be given others.

Send your story to the hunting and fishing editor, care The Constitution.

Down the Alleys

Interest in the southern handicap tenpin tournament tonight will be centered on the spirited rivalry of the Gulf Refining Company and Texaco Oil Company teams, bowling as "boosters," with several other booster teams bowling for the special prizes, also.

The Texaco Fire Chief will have C. M. Reed, T. O. Wood, H. E. Bringham, L. W. Davis and P. L. Tesch.

And will be matched with the Gulf Lube boys, whose lineup will be: G. E. Millican, H. C. Chandler, E. F. Smith, T. E. Dicks and E. P. Livingston.

The Gulf No-Nox boys will use Mike Nichols, Bill Dunn, Bill Hargrave, F. C. Rogers and Ray Slade.

The Texaco Crack-Proof roster will have J. T. Sessions, C. Little, G. B. Tyson, H. L. Johnson and B. Chandler on the firing line and they will be bowling against the Gulf Lube boys, including W. T. Etzel, J. A. Kahlert, A. O. Buntin, J. Cole and E. L. Keener.

And the Four Bells and Four Eagles will use adjoining alleys to round out the balance of play, which will total 12 teams in play Thursday evening, with no doubles or singles slated to be bowled again until Friday and Saturday.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(P)—Except for gains in United States government obligations, the market was generally downward today.

Stocks plodded along at fairly firm prices for a couple of hours, but declined in the afternoon following publication of reports that General John J. Pershing had been elected to the post of commander in chief of the United States army.

The move toward a further revision of hours, with a compensating pay increase, attracted much attention in the market circles, which immediately raised the question of what effect action toward raising costs would have on the return to industry.

Stock market pressure was rather equitably distributed among the major groups. Some favorites, both old and new, managed to progress, among them International Nickel and Philip Morris, but most old-line leaders sagged when much pressure was applied.

Chemicals, steels, rails, metals, manufacturing issues, motors, farm implements and the general run of tobacco, as well as utilities, fell back more or less consistently. Among the maximum losers were Allied Chemical, American Tobacco, Liggett & Myers, "B" Case and DuPont which yielded around 3, Douglas Aircraft, Motor Products, Chrysler, Santa Fe, American Can, and others.

Many of the moment were accompanied by a number of favorable trade reports. Iron Age said steel production had risen two points to 40 per cent, and that Detroit area mills were working at capacity. The review thought prospects favored further expansion "unless labor difficulties grow more serious."

Power production was the largest percentage rise over the previous year since July, 1929, and several chain stores reported substantial gains in sales.

One particularly favorable report of that of Montgomery Ward for February; its sales increase of 52.2 per cent was the largest since 1923.

A. T. &amp; T. LONG LINES

SHOW BUSINESS GAIN

NEW YORK, March 7.—(P)—A further gain in the long-lines business of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company in January was indicated by the report for that month filed with the interstate commerce commission.

Gross income for the month was $7,747,503 against $6,051,183 the same month last year. Net operating income was $1,468,512 against $459,497.

The report covers operating activities only, excluding non-operating income, such as dividends, interest and other revenues received and non-operating charges, such as interest and rents paid.

"There'll be a big scandal," Doug said haltingly when Charity said she did not want to go away until people forgot what had happened. "The papers will be full of it—"

Charity's face grew a little paler. "We'll fight it out—together."

"I'll need your love and your confidence so much, Charity. Unless you believe in me—no matter what people say—it will be unbearable."

Charity kissed him tenderly. "You must know I love you—always, every minute of the day, dear heart, if you want me to be happy."

Doug closed his eyes wearily. Charity thought he was going to sleep. A soft knock came on the door and the nurse entered again with Dr. Brandt. The doctor smiled and took Doug's pulse. Charity was alarmed when he said almost curtly, "You'll have to go now. No more visitors to-day. Miss Tell, under any circumstances."

Charity saw the worry in the doctor's face. "What—what's wrong? Oh, doctor—He's not worse?"

The doctor shook his head gravely. "He's gone back into a coma. It may be hours, or days, before he revives."

Miss Tell led Charity to the reception room across the hall. In a second she heard the door close.

She staggered to the window to get a breath of air and felt Billie's arms around her.

"You'll have to be brave, honey," Billie said comfortingly. She was certain then that Doug had died.

Charity heard loud voices and opened her eyes to see a newsboy hurrying by on the street below. She heard him distinctly:

"Extra—Extra—Heless Dies in Crash With Penthouse Lover, Doug Temple Dying."

Doug was dying. The doctor had lied to her. Yanner had rallied and seemed rational before her death. That's what Doug had done. With a low moan Charity lost consciousness. Billie caught her as she fell.

AS THE EARTH TURNS

By Gladys Hasty Carroll.

—the drama of a year's living, unrolling as naturally, as inevitably, as effortlessly as the days follow one another and the seasons change.

The story deals with the Shaw family, every member of which is a vivid and well-realized individual—the sons and daughters of a Maine farm—with their peculiar Yankee virtues and their unpretentious, sly courage; with their suppressed sense of beauty and all the physical happiness of their existence.

Read the first instalment of this unusual story on this page tomorrow.
